Watchin' the sun come up, early mornin' light.
Breakin' through the trees, oh, what a sight!
Smellin' something cookin', this could be a good day.

Growing Together, learnin' to know each other better.
Watching over the world, lookin' after our brother,
Bein' on hand when we're needin' each other,
Growing Together each day.
'Cause we are makin' the world better,
Growing Together each day.

Hearin' some happy bird sing his heart out,
Bein' with my friends, that's what it's all about.
Talkin' things over as we travel our way.
'Cause we are knowing together,
Tomorrow will be the best day ever,
'Cause we're makin' the world better,
Growing Together each day.
'Cause we are makin' the world better,
Growing Together each day.

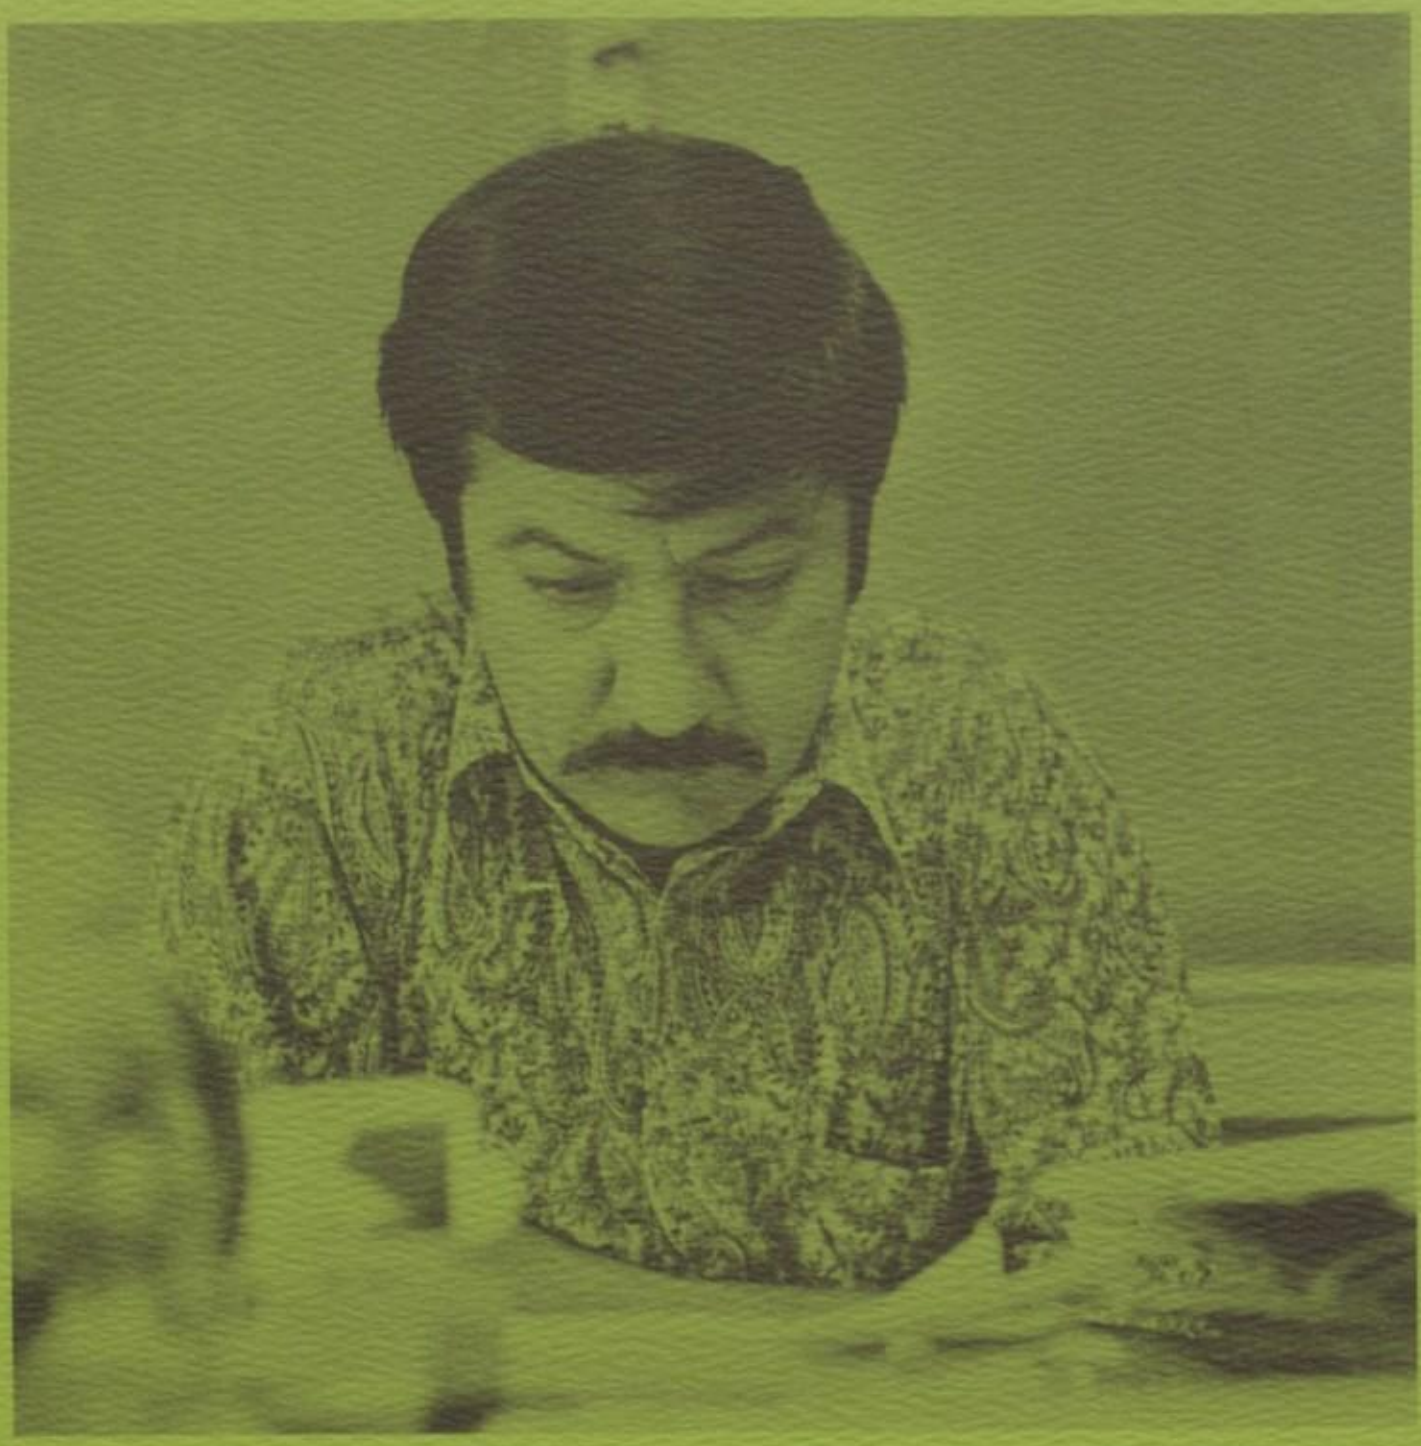
DEDICATION



In gratitude for his nine years as yearbook advisor, the staff of the 1974 Panorama dedicates this annual to Mr. Robert Winthrop. Mr. Winthrop advised the staffs of Washington High School yearbooks from 1965 to 1973. We congratulate this dedicated man, and thank him for his assistance in preparing this year's book.

GETTING AN EARLY START...

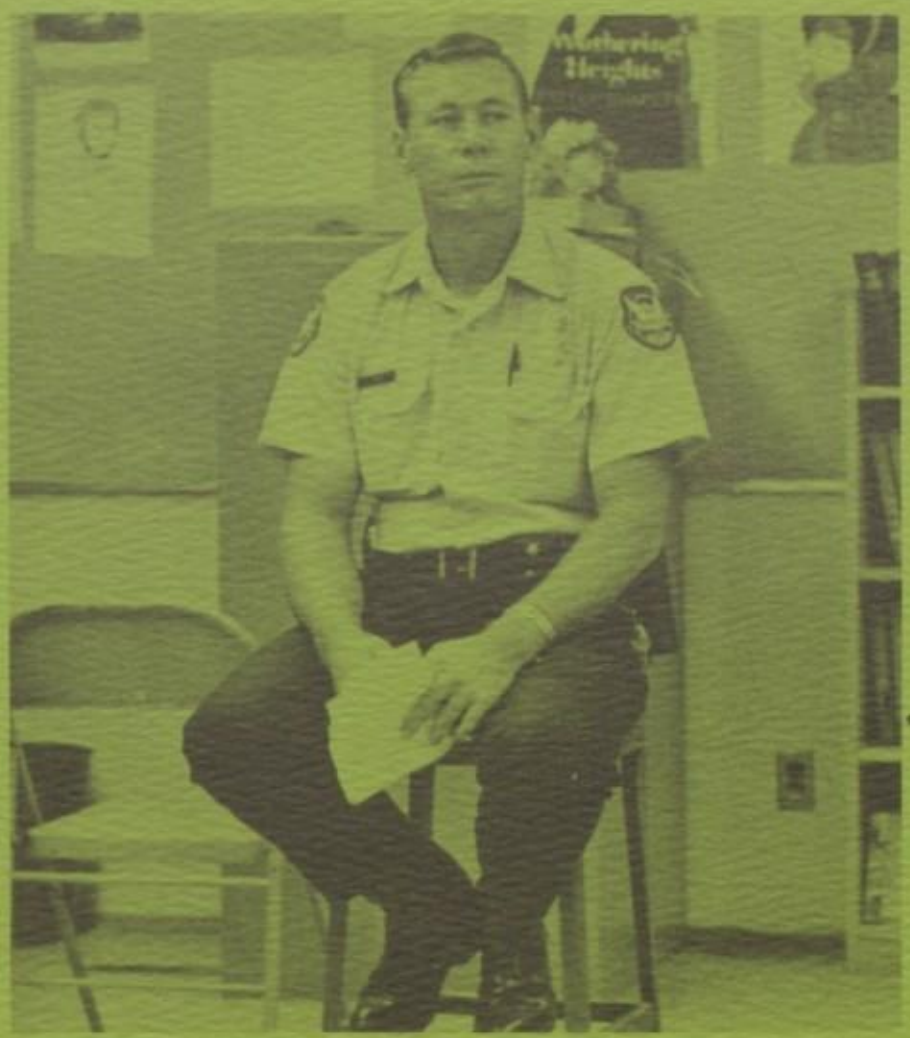
You look at this picture and you think of buildings. But you think of more than mere rows of brick, mortar and glass. You are a W. H. S. student, and you think of all the life these buildings have seen. They have seen triumphs and tragedies, happiness and tears. They have seen lives change and grow. Inside these buildings are people, teen-agers who have much of life yet to live, who must learn from study and experience—from living. They will learn what they must accept and what they can change. These buildings in their own way are alive, holding within their walls all the happiness and sadness that high school students know. You look at this picture and you think of W. H. S. teen-agers growing together.

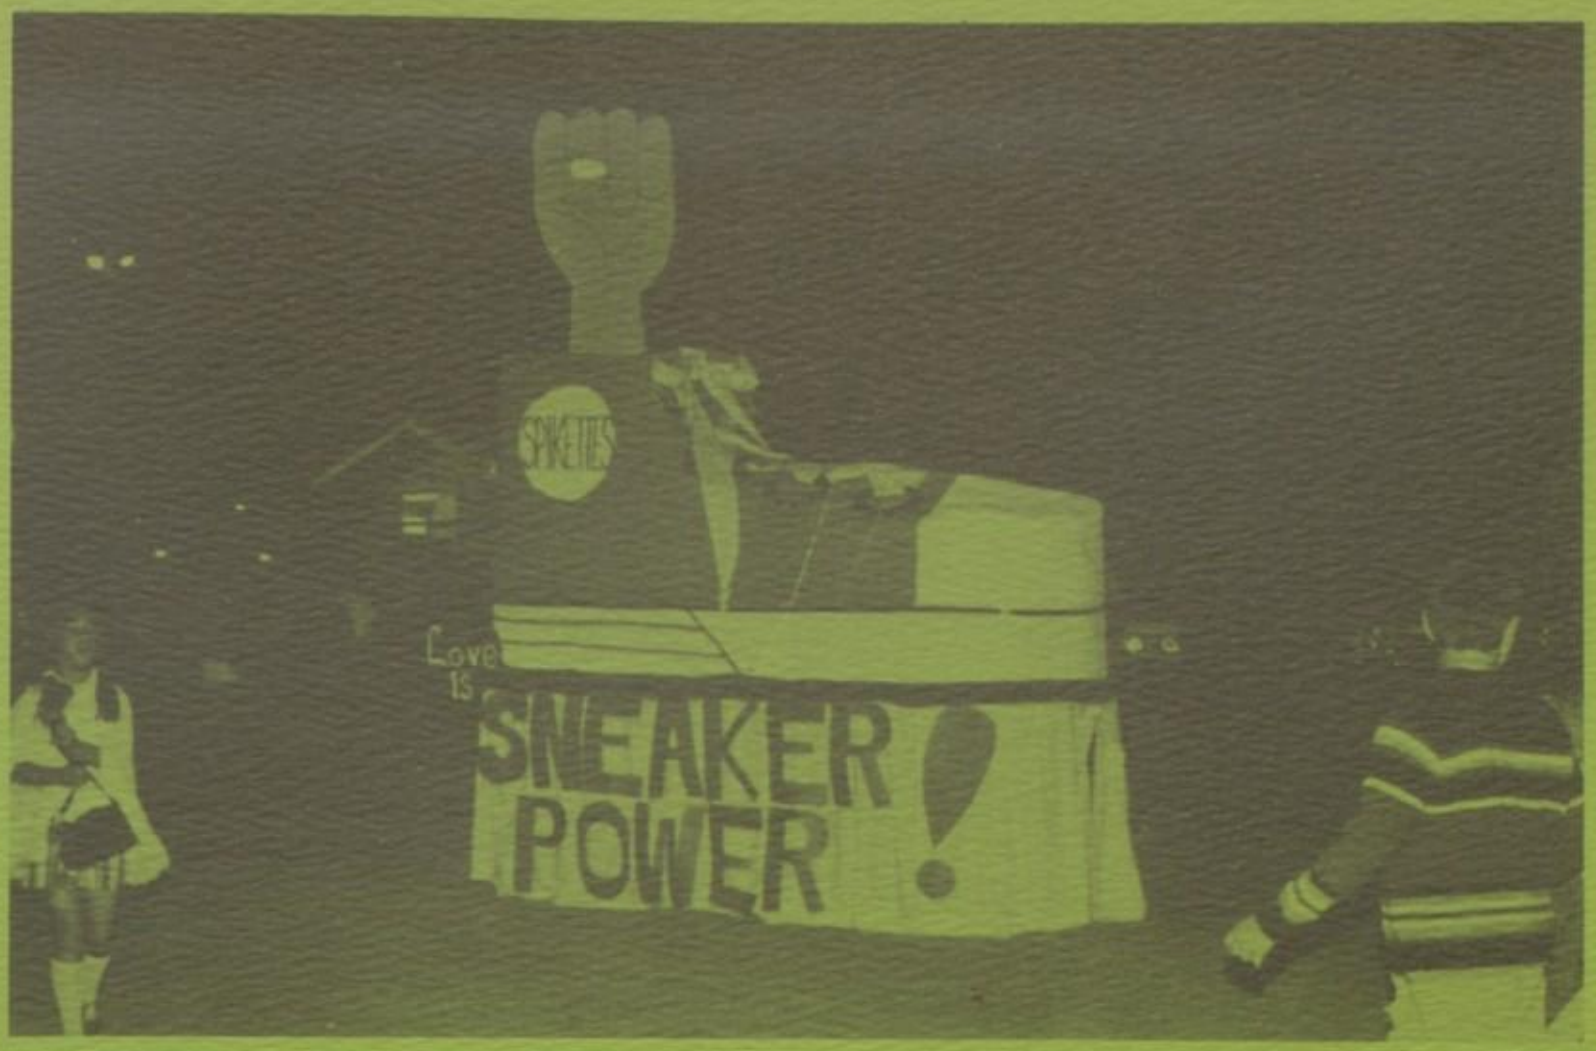
Officer Jess Ingle, the W.H.S. PAYS officer, ponders over the answer to a student's question... "Now, was it Code 111, par. 13? No, it was Code 112, par. 7..."



"Help! We're being invaded!" No, it's just Sam and Barbi, doing their own thing, as usual. A typical morning at W.H.S.? You bet!

Early morning risers are a common sight around W.H.S. these days, especially with the early-bird class at 7:30. Remember the saying, "Early to bed, early to rise..."

One of the highlights of the school year was the concert assembly given by the Spurrlows. The group was fantastic, displaying much musical talent, both vocal and instrumental. The concert turned out to be a fun time for all students, and there was a little extra fun added for some!

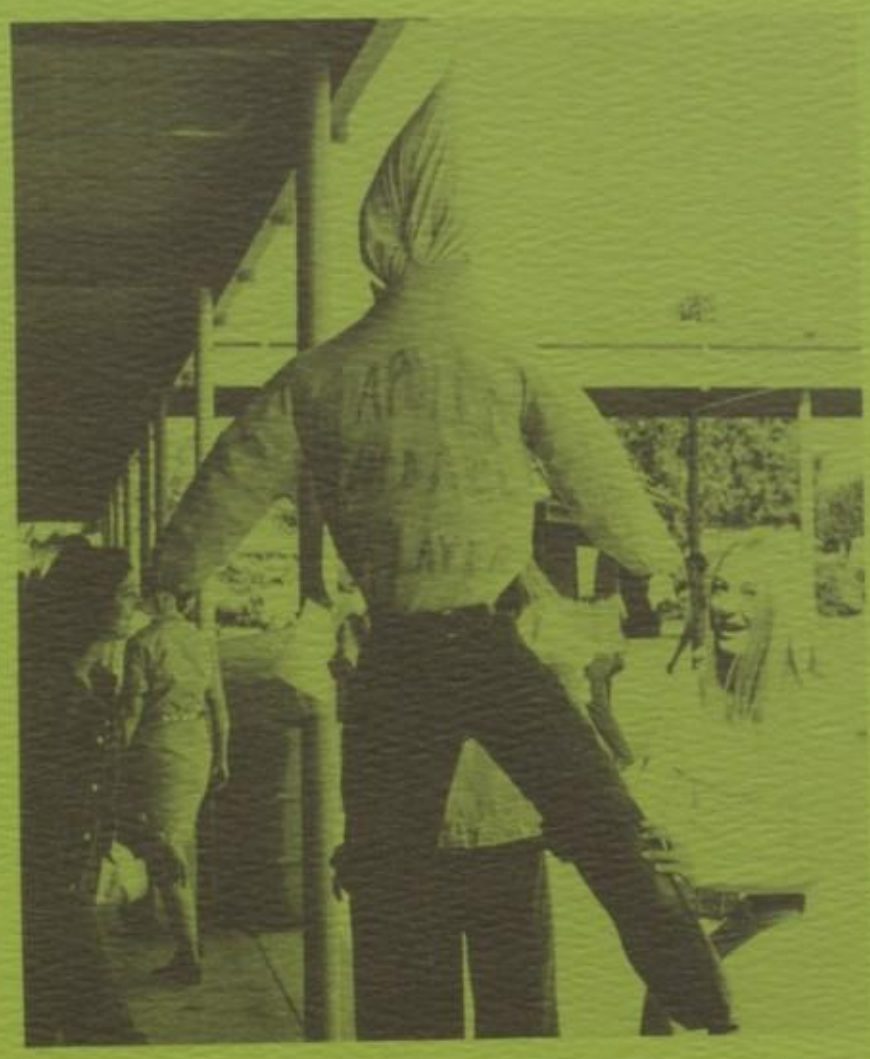


You've got to be kidding! Sneaker Power!?!?

Hard at work?? Somehow I doubt it!

Atta'boy, Mark!

Brian Rudd talks about his hassles with drugs.



This enhancing figure was created to stir school spirit during the week before Homecoming.

Sing a glad song.

The chorus relaxes on the risers while practicing Christmas carols.

The best way to get out of class. Attend an assembly!

The Spurrlows turn on at Washington!

Linda Shelton bends thoughtfully over her crafts project. "Now, where should I put this?"

Registration 1973 started off with a bang - if you think that standing in line for two hours is a bang. Accompanying this year's registration were the usual cries of "Where's my class?" and "You've got to be kidding" as well as numerous complaints about class schedules and lunch hours. This is natural at the beginning, but everything always seems to work out. Without the help of our very competent counselors and our wonderful staff of office workers, registration might be the worst part of the year. They did a wonderful job, and we thank them for their efforts.

Freshman initiation is one of the highlights of the Senior's year. This year's initiation included the always favorite push-ups on top of the lockers and cleaning the Ram Plaque with toothbrushes. Of course, this year's freshmen can hardly wait until they are almighty seniors Look out, class of '80!

Eating chocolate covered marshmallows for lunch shows real school spirit.

When volunteering to be in a skit for a Pep Rally, you never know what's going to happen.... and may the best man win.

Students would do anything to be on a float in the Homecoming parade.

The cheerleaders wander around in amazement as the Rams football team leaps out to a 6-0 lead.

Report card day can be an exhausting experience

A few last stragglers go through the gate to watch the Rams play their last '73 home game.

As the football players dress for the last football assembly of the year, the cheerleaders whip up something devilish for the skit.

NOVEMBER BRINGS CHILLS

Senior cheerleaders Cindy Stitz and Nancy Mannett walk through the remains of their handiwork to their pep rally.

As October flowed into November, Rams could feel the mercury drop as morning temperatures reflected readings of 40's. The end of the term drew near and frantic after school conferences with teachers kept students occupied for once with school.

Of course, other occupations weren't ignored as Rams turned out fairly well as the football team played its last home game of the year, beating Flagstaff 17-6 in a rare Thursday night game.

Minor sports, gathered followings too as teams in cross country, volleyball, and badminton fought their way into divisional and state playoffs. Many cars traveled with the harrier team as they went to Tuscon for the state meet.

Although November wound up the fall sports scene, this month was also the beginning of the Thanksgiving-Christmas can drive. Over $100 around Thanksgiving alone was collected and many cans given as five families sat down to great Thanksgiving dinners.

And speaking of Thanksgiving meals, the annual student council Thanksgiving mall lunch came off as expected, aside from problems with chairs and live entertainment. For a mere 65¢, turkey, stuffing and cranberry sauce were available to tickle the palate of gourmets.

As November came to a close, a musical bonus awaited the Rams as the nationally known Spurlowes performed on campus, drawing a crowd of around 500.

With Mr. Swerdfeger along to nelp, an advanced biology class is bundled up against the crisp morning air to discuss a class project.

DECEMBER MEANS XMAS

December stole onto WHS with more icy temperatures and a tendency towards drafty classrooms. The energy crisis bit deeply as students dressed warmly, glum at the prospects of year round Daylight Savings Time and the ban on Sunday gas sales.

Sill, school went on and brought as usual the great indoor all-American sport, basketball. Although a bit on the short side, the Ram cagers played a gutsy game, hanging close to sixth rated Maryvale in their season opener—after, of course, battling the faculty in the traditional Doug Creed memorial game.

In addition to basketball, night entertainment could be found in the first play of the year, "George Washington Slept Here." For the more musically inclined, the cafeteria played host to the choir and orchestra as Mr. Marcus unveiled his first year choir in a holiday program of Christmas carols.

Carolling served notice to students that "Santa" time was near, and they responded with mammoth contributions of money and cans to the can drive.

The council also hyped the holiday spirit by setting up a Christmas tree donated by Ecology club on the cafeteria stage, complete with festive trimming.

And to cap it all off, the council wound it up with the Christmas dinner of ham and sweet potatoes complete with live entertainment and ever popular senior Terry Hamilton as Santa to listen to "kiddies" telling him what they want for Christmas.

Waiting patiently, home ec student Debbie Talbert is ready to serve at the faculty Christmas Tea.

"Ho! Ho! Ho!" says Santa Terry Hamilton) as he asks principal Fred McClure what he wants for Christmas.

Fiendish, revenge mad students fork over their money for sopping wet sponges to take a crack at—

Below, the westbound signal light at Glendale and 23rd waits, unaware of WHS's attempt during January to install a left turn signal on it.

Rows upon rows of bicycles fill the WHS bike racks as the oil shortages forced students to give up cars in favor of less energy consuming vehicles.

GAS SHORTAGE CHOKES WHS AS '74 OPENS

As the new year of 1974 rolled in, the grim specter of the energy crisis hovered over the WHS campus, grinding out hopes among the students.

Though many WHSers cried "Fake!", there was nothing phony about slashing of bus runs in half to save fuel, as many students found out as they walked through freezing weather to get to their bus stop.

But bus runs weren't the only things cut; transportation of students to athletic events were cancelled as basketball and wrestling team members had to hitch rides to their games.

Yet, the gas shortage wasn't the only thing to worry students. Semester exams sneaked onto campus catching students and teachers alike unaware. From January 14 to 17, students literally crammed knowledge for exams.

However, a few activities lightened up the gloomy month of January. The winter band and orchestra concert in the last week of the month delighted music lovers as the instrumental music department showed a repetoire of classical and contemporary music.

The basketball team, too, delighted cage fans as they swung into 1974, upsetting Skyline division powerhouse Moon Valley.

MEMORIES REVIVED

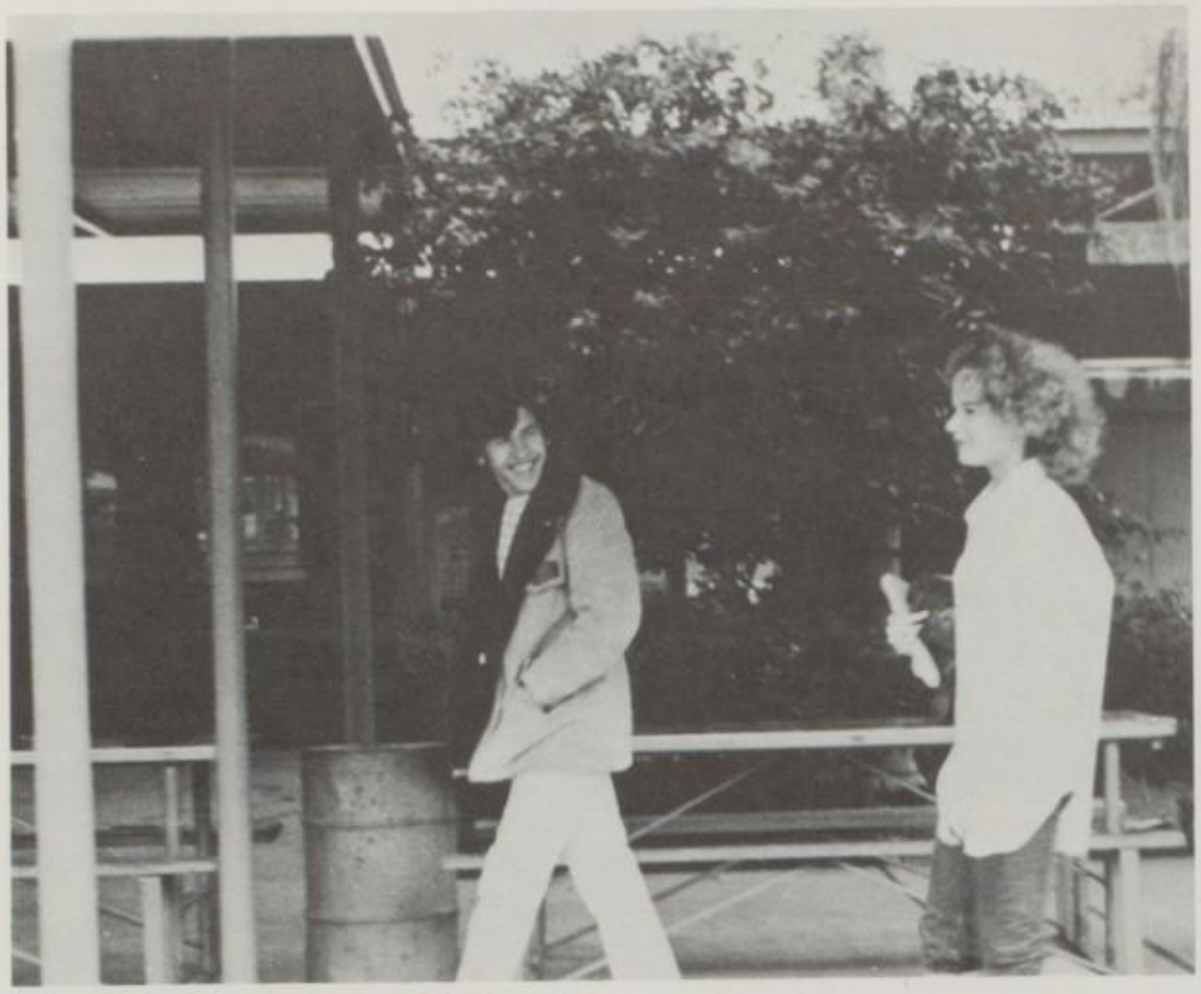
Mention "Wally Cleaver Week" at WHS, and the name conjures up memories of Chinese fire drills, the 50s, rock 'n roll, and the good old days. And the week of January 7 to 11, there was nothing but the good old days as WHS followed the trend of TV's "Happy Days" and slicked its hair back for a week of rollickin' fun.

Things started out a bit slow on Monday, with just old record playing at lunchtime, but the pace picked up on Tuesday, as people other than student council members were brave enough to dress up in 50's fashion to get involved in lunchtime activities such as lifesaver pass.

Wednesday, WHS really swung into the action as the PE department sponsored a lunchtime sock hop, inviting teachers and students to jitterbug and twist to the strains of Bill Haley, Chuck Berry, and Elvis Presley. The lunchtime activities returned on Thursday as students banded together in class competition in eight-legged races, the egg toss, and the Pepsi chug.

Capping the whole week, Friday featured extended lunch hours for activities like the egg toss, apple eating, and bubble gum chew by day. By night, over 1200 nostalgic Rams jammed the gym to see the basketball team nip arch-enemy Brophy in a 65-64 thriller.

After the game, these same Rams packed the dance floor for the Wally Cleaver dance at 25 ¢ per costumed head to dance to the 50's specialty band, Jet Black and the Valve Lifters. Plenty of side trimmings helped ice the cake as kissing booths, marriage booths, refreshment stands manned by student council jerks, and the antics by Jet Black, capping off Wally Cleaver Week's memories of the past.



YOB DAYS HIGHLIGHT FEBRUARY-MARCH

As the school year wore on into February and March, school activities slowed down, as if students were eagerly waiting for the coming of summer. Temperature creeped up into the 70's and 80's, and Rams moved drowsily along in short sleeves and shorts.

One of the activities that kept students and teachers alike busy was "Attack Days" on student smokers between classes on Glendale Avenue. Starting February 14, riders on the Cancer Express found it more difficult to sneak a smoke while administrators patrolled the areas outside the school.

In a lighter vein, the ultimate Women's Lib expression came to Washington as under no pressure at all, the Student Council reviewed YOB Days. (Try spelling it backwards) YOB examines the chivalric spirit with the girls ladling it out. Slave sales and a dating game highlighted the days with a free dance capping them.

APRIL, MAY, AND JUNE WRAP IT UP

Being a senior the last few months of school brings a mixture of feelings. Especially when April and May roll around.

Consider, for instance, the effects of those major springtime happenings in our '74 year. The first week of April saw four straight chorus- orchestra- dramatist performances of the musical "Oliver!" Following that was one whole welcome week off for Easter recess. The glittering highlight in any senior social scene, the Junior-Senior Prom, wrapped it up for April, on the 27th at the Del Webb Townehouse.

The band and orchestra presented their final concert of the year in May, highlighting the last full month of the school year. After that, the final weeks went by, filled with exams and anticipations of the summer ahead. On June 5th the 19th graduating class of WHS left Washington for the last time.

ADMINISTRATORS HANDLE PROBLEMS, DIRECT ACTIVITIES

The energy crisis was only one of the problems which the WHS administrators faced during the school year. To conserve fuel, classroom thermostats were lowered and field trips were cancelled. Rams who rode the bus found themselves walking a little farther to some of the stops because of the reduction in number of boarding places.

But along with the problems, the administrators found time to meet with students individually and in groups to listen to complaints and try to iron them out. They also joined in the fun of such events as Wally Cleaver Week.

The WHS administrators were headed by Mr. Fred McClure, a native of Virginia and former social studies teacher at Sunnyslope. Assistant principal in charge of student activities and athletic director was Mr. Ed Sine, former WHS football coach. Mr. James Wright was assistant principal in charge of student services and registrar. The man who probably had more contact with students than anyone on campus was Mr. Robert Smith, dean of students.

Principal Mr. Fred McClure keeps our school running smoothly.

Mr. Ed Sine, Assistant Principal for Athletics and Activities, watches early morning pep rally approvingly.

Mr. Robert Smith, the new Dean of Students, listens to students with problems with an open mind.

Mr. James Wright, our Assistant Principal, talks with a parent on the phone.

DEDICATED MEN SERVE DISTRICT

Mr. William Jones, former WHS principal, is Glendale Union High School District Superintendent.

"Dedication" has to be the word to describe five men, each with his own career, who serve without pay as members of the Glendale Union High School Board of Education. Meeting at least once a week, they are elected by residents of the district to plan the budget, provide for new schools, hire personnel and take care of other matters relating to education.

These public spirited men are the Reverend Everett B. Luther, president, Mr. Arnold H. Rover, the Reverend Rex A. Sprink, Dr. Arthur N. Lindberg, and Mr. Richard D. Stapley. Former WHS principal, Mr. Bill Jones is superintendent of the district. Serving under him are Victor Lowman, associate superintendent; Ronald Murphy, assistant superintent; Robert Christensen, administrator of personnel; and Gerald George, administrator of GEMS.

Also John Irwin, administrator of curriculum; Czeslaw Schmidt, administrator of health, PE, and athletics; Margaret Beebe, director of communications; Wayne Botkin, comptroller; Christine Federico, director of food services; Jerome Norris, director of transportation; John Stenwall, director of purchasing; Frederick Whitney, director of research and data processing; and David King, supervisor of buildings and grounds.

ELECTIVE PROGRAM OPEN TO JUNIORS AND SENIORS

New courses and a changing program were additions to the Language Arts department this year. Response to an elective program available to both juniors and seniors for the first time was favorable. New courses offered were "Love and Tragedy" and "The Hero Image" Two fully-equipped reading labs were also installed for remedial and developmental reading classes.

On the frosh level, in accordance with new standards for the entire district, a new program is being designed, which will be incorporated within the next few years.

Honor student, Stephanie Tolleson, Senior, was one of three students in Arizona to receive an essay award from the National Council of Teachers of English. In addition, the prose and poetry of at least twelve Washington Rams will be submitted to the Southwest High School Creative Writing Awards publication which is issued annually by New Mexico State University.

Our favorite moonlighter, Mrs. Prosser walks among her Latin Students.

Mr. Thornburg makes points with a pencil.

Well known for her guest speakers, Mrs. Boyle glances up from her papers.

Whether the subject is the Bible, Greeks, & ancient history, Mrs. Lightbourn knows them all.

She teaches English; she can make a star out of you; she's the one and only Mrs. Anderson!

He teaches English, and coaches the girls' swim team. That's Mr. Johnson.

If you can't read as far as this, Mrs. Powers will teach you how!

Papers, papers everywhere; you'll find Mr. Winthrop buried under them, for English and the Ram Page.

Who can keep a class in order, a yearbook moving, and a cool head? Mrs. Barnhill!

FOREIGN LANGUAGES STRESS CULTURE

"A person who speaks two languages is two people," declared Mr. Fred Woods, chairman of the foreign language department. Foreign language teachers at WHS stress learning about the cultures of people as well as proficiency in their languages.

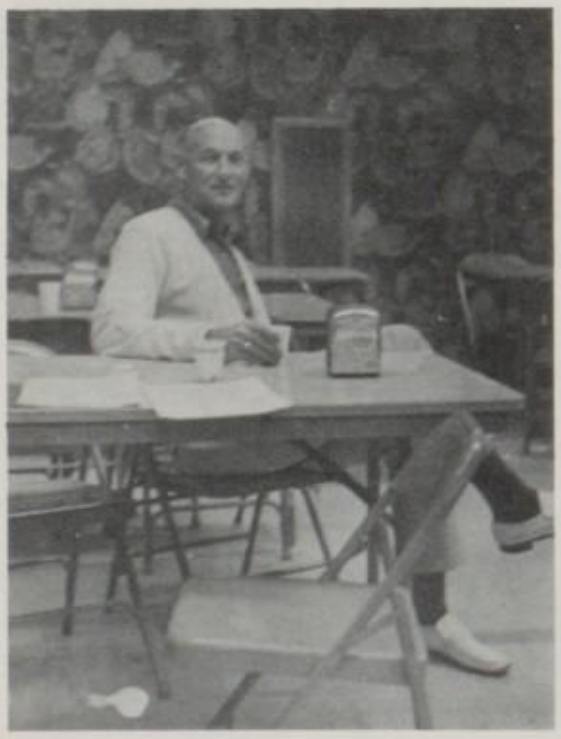
To help realize this goal, forty Spanish students spent a day at the art museum viewing the works of sixteen modern Mexican painters, and attended a performance of the Ballet Folklorico de Mexico. Mrs. Grundy's classes prepared a cultural dinner at Christmas time featuring native food from Spanish countries. Miss Figarelli's students made pinatas.

Mrs. German's French students added to their second culture by study and by preparing French dishes for Christmas enjoyment and crepes later in the year.

Pleasurable as it is, food preparation and consumption is not the students' only accomplishment. WHS Spanish students, for example always rank high in the National Spanish Examination.

Both Spanish and Latin teachers hope to add additional third year classes to their course offerings next year. Add those and an anticipated beginning Russian class to the present French, Spanish, Latin, and German classes already flourishing, and WHS might see a good many "two people students" on campus.

Mr. Woods approves of the results.



Mr. Engelbrecht relaxes a minute before his next class.

Miss Figarelli teaches her class some Spanish sayings.

Mrs. Bramel waits patiently while her class takes a test.

Mrs. German tells her classes they'll start making crepes next week.

Mrs. Carpenter teaches her English class about prepositional phrases.

Mrs. Grundy passes out refreshments at a Spanish Club party.

Miss Glessner listens to a student read.

Mr. Chase teaches his German class how to say "Dankeschoen"

Mrs. Enger tells her class they have to learn the Prologue of the CANTERBURY TALES.

After a busy day with girls in P.E., Miss Smith still comes out looking nice.

While the boys square dance, Coach Frankie makes sure they're good.

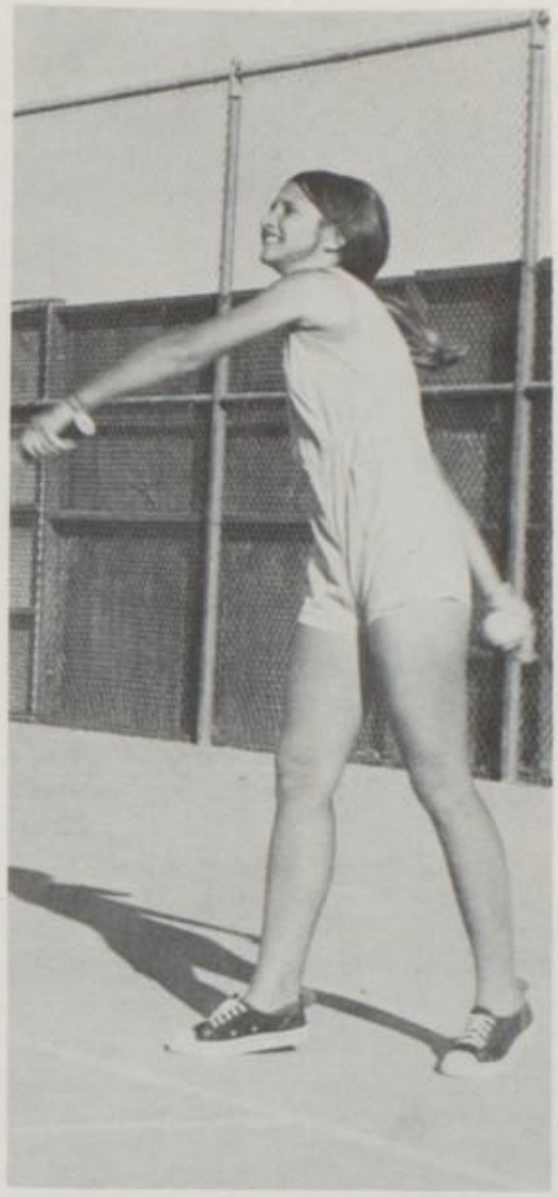
Dancing to the music of Bill Haley and the Comets, everyone joins in on the Sock Hop.

Coach Kersey looks comfortable with Santa Claus's helpers.

Coach Porianda passes out papers to his Freshman boys' P.E. class.

P.E. FEATURES VARIETY OF COURSES

"I'm ready"



This student shows her good follow through on a tennis serve.

The P.E. department has offered a wide variety of sports to juniors and seniors to choose in their pursuit of recreational activities. Hopefully participation in these chosen sports will carry over into the students' leisure time activities even after graduation. Golf, swimming, basketball and baseball continue as popular activities New this year were team handball, an Olympic sport, and self defense, in which the basic throws and methods of breaking holds were learned. Dancing, too, had a lot of enthusiastic participants, as boys and girls alike chose to do-si-do to the tunes of the square dance and to swing out with jitterbug gyrations, a P.E. feature of Wally Cleaver Week.

Emphasizing the importance of physical fitness to each individual, the department is eager to offer to all students the opportunity to participate in health classes as well. Carpeting, posters, tape decks, and games added to the attractions of these courses and will continue to do so in the future. Underneath all these attractive trappings, however, is the department's aim that each student realize his own importance.

Mr. Porianda dances with a student.

Mrs. Kemp and Miss Smith show everyone the way to swing.

HISTORY CLASSES RECREATE REALITY

Simulations and mock trials were features of the social studies curriculum. Senior government classes put a yearbook editor on trial for violating copyright laws by featuring Smokey the Bear on their cover.

U.S. History classes simulated problems based on the Articles of Confederation. Each student, belonging to a particular state, tried to make that state the richest by outmaneuvering the other states politically and economically. Ultimately, the citizens met to create a constitution.

Asked what he would want most students to gain from history courses, department chairman Mr. Gallagher responded, "An understanding of Jefferson's philosophy and the Declaration of government by laws rather than a government by men."

Under consideration by the state legislature is a course on "Theory of Capitalism" to be required for ½ credit for graduation, beginning next year.

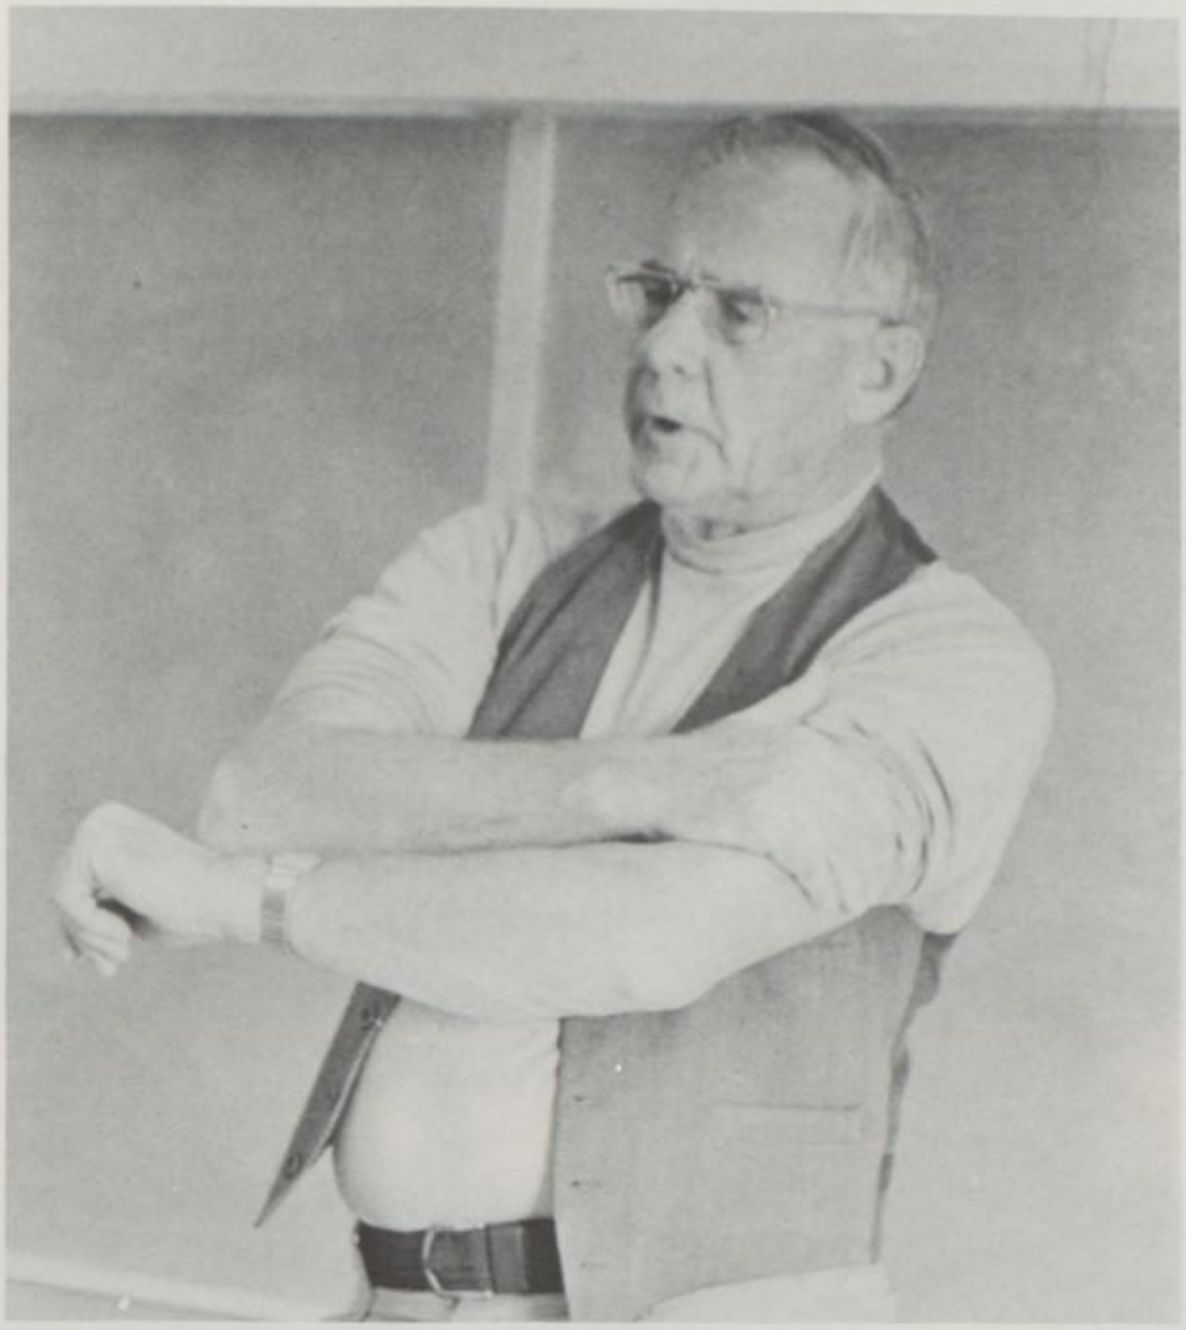
Mr. Davis makes his World Geography class very interesting. Try it, and see!

Mr. Gallagher helps a student in his U.S. History class.

You can get that beautiful smile out of Mr. Christofferson whenever you turn in a grade "A" paper for World History.

Students ask Mr. Harris for help in his U.S. History class.

Yee Haw! Make way for Pioneer Holmes and his Government class.

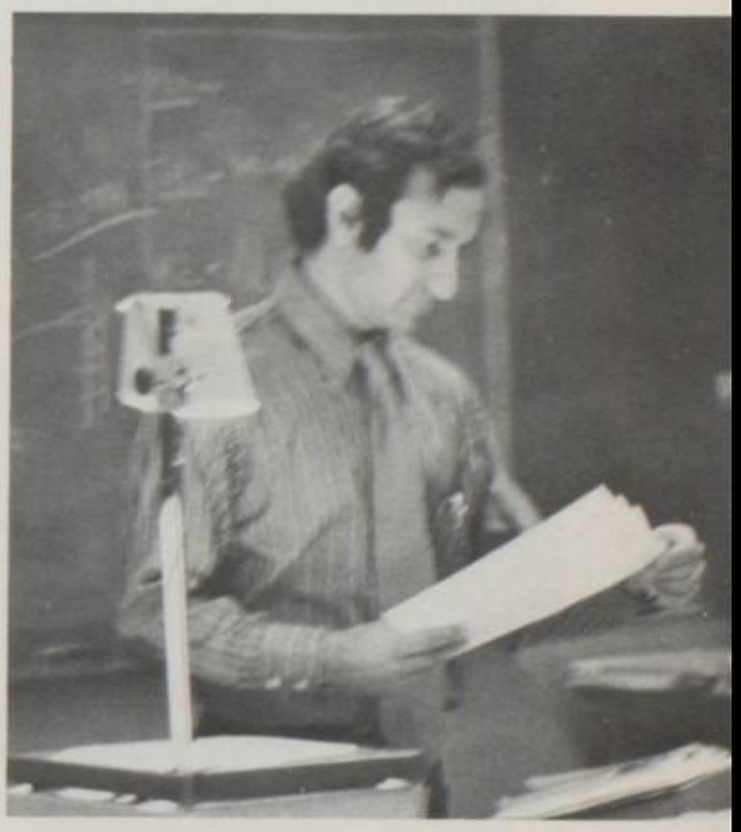


Mr. Harris runs a tight ship in his U.S. History class.

Shocked by all the students in his Government class, Mr. Spain carries through.

Mr. Stacy tells his daily joke.

Peek a Boo! Mr. Howard is taken by surprise in his World History class.



Mr. Maggiacoma prepares an overhead for his U.S. History class.

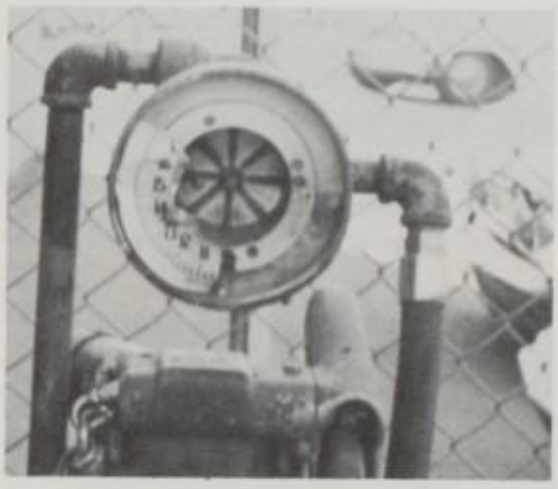
Mr. Willeford smiles as he learns everyone in his class passed his test

Mr. Booth looks for an answer.

BASIC ALGEBRA 3-4 ADDED TO MATH COURSES

Definition of a plane, bar graphing, formula for the lateral area of a right circular cylinder, X minus one times X plus one, radii and diameters all occupy a student's mind in the many math courses offered at WHS.

Help for some mathematically confused minds came this year in the form of Basic Algebra 3-4. The department's newest addition to its curriculum, this course was designed to take students through the intricacies of second semester algebra at a more slowly regulated pace.



Super Computer?

Mr. Morningstar grades his papers while his class works.

Mr. Nolan transfers his grades to his grade book.

SCIENTISTS WORK AT OWN PACE

In an effort to individualize their program, several WHS science teachers have experimented with courses that allow their students to progress at the rate at which they are capable of working. Although these approaches are still experimental, the results have been encouraging to both students and teachers.

A further step forward has been the addition of new courses and activities. Mrs. Boulet now teaches three classes of I.A.C. in chemistry, and the earth science classes have introduced a highly successful oceanography unit. To better understand the relationship between the earth and its life, Mr. Swerdfeger's classes built models of ecosystems.

Science students are discovering the fascination of scientific study and its usefullness to them in their lives now and in the future.

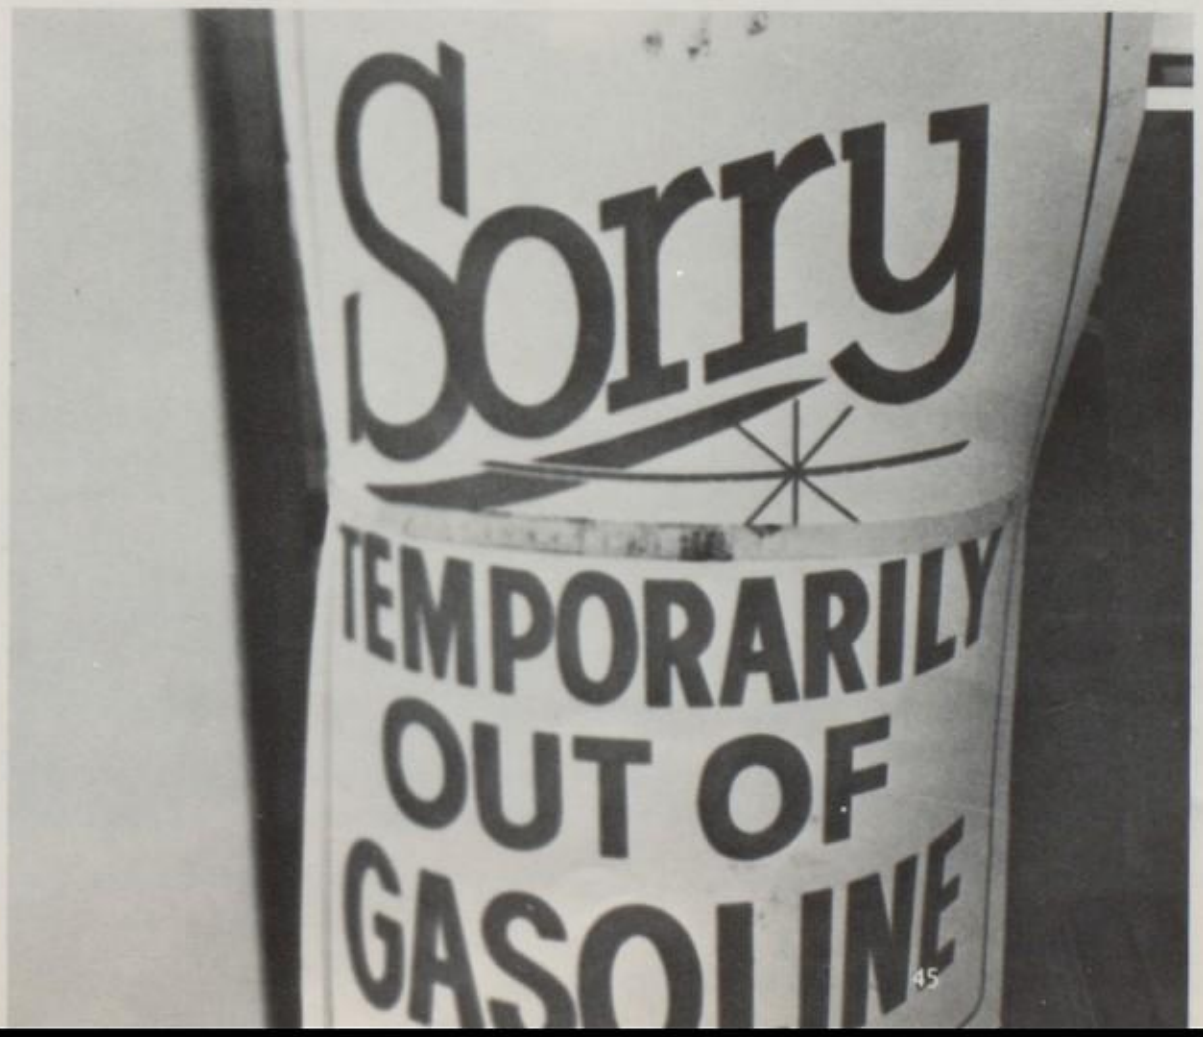
Mr. Gardner explains to his class how to make a map of a volcano.

Mr. Eastin talks with other teachers at the teachers' tea.

Who knows! Maybe our science classes can come up with a solution.



Mr. Pagel checks an answer on the board.

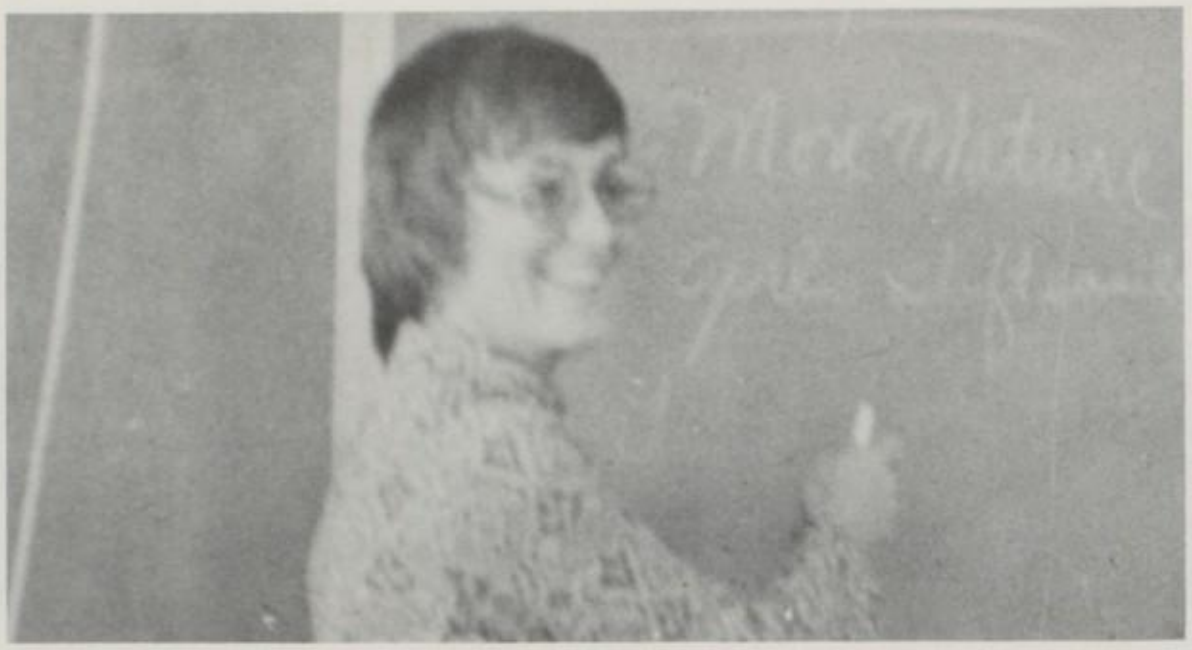
HOME EC MODERNIZES COURSES

The classic picture of a Home Economics class baking brownies or hemming a dress is rapidly disappearing, as this department has become more career, people and family orientated. Although basic cooking and sewing are still offered, classes in Bachelor Survival, with field trips to apartment complexes, supermarkets, and furniture stores, and gourmet cooking.

Two courses introduced for the first time this year were Teens Today, which focused on personal problems among freshman and sophomores, while Dollar and Sense offered to juniors and seniors, simulated an everyday commonity in the classroom where students learned to earn, budget, save, and even face financial crises.

With that carefree smile how can you help liking Mrs. Rourke and her Home Ec class?

Mrs. Morrison lectures about dollars and sense.



Mrs. Drinen makes a point about child development.

Mrs. Barrick sets up for the teachers' Christmas Tea.

Mrs. Bender and her surviving bachelors collect branches of berries to decorate the teachers' christmas tree.

OFFICE STAFF PROVIDES INDISPENSIBLE SERVICES TO SCHOOL

No school could operate smoothly, if at all, without the efficient office personnel that keep it in operation in a variety of essential ways.

Keeping the students' records up to date with grades and test scores is the primary task of the records office, demanding the services of a full-time credentials clerk and a clerk-typist.

Directing the many clerical responsibilities of WHS is the indispensible job of the school secretary. She and her staff spend many long hours helping teachers in all matters pertaining to such essentials as payroll, insurance and credentials.

Since the school is funded according to its average daily attendance, keeping accurate attendance records is the complicated, time-consuming duty of the attendance office staff. This busy staff also contacts every home of absent students whose parents have not reported the absence.

Among the many responsibilities of our bookstore manager are the ordering and dispensing of books and supplies, collecting and keeping track of purchases, and maintaining the accounts of student clubs and organizations.

And, judging by the number of requests to "see the nurse," it is difficult to imagine how we Rams could get along without the health center. Our nurse's most important responsibility is evaluating each injury or medical emergency to determine its severity and making a decision for treatment. Clothing problems, insurance papers, eligibility for sports, P.E. clearances, vision and hearing tests and control of contagious cases occupy a great deal of this hard working lady's time, too. Add to all this her medical assistance at football games and wrestling tournaments and you have an idea of the magnitude of her work.

She acknowledges with great appreciation the excellent work her student assistants do in helping to meet these demands.

School secretary Mrs. Marchman, nurse Mrs. Murphy, and bookstore manager Mrs. Stroup — part of the smiling team that keeps things rolling at WHS.

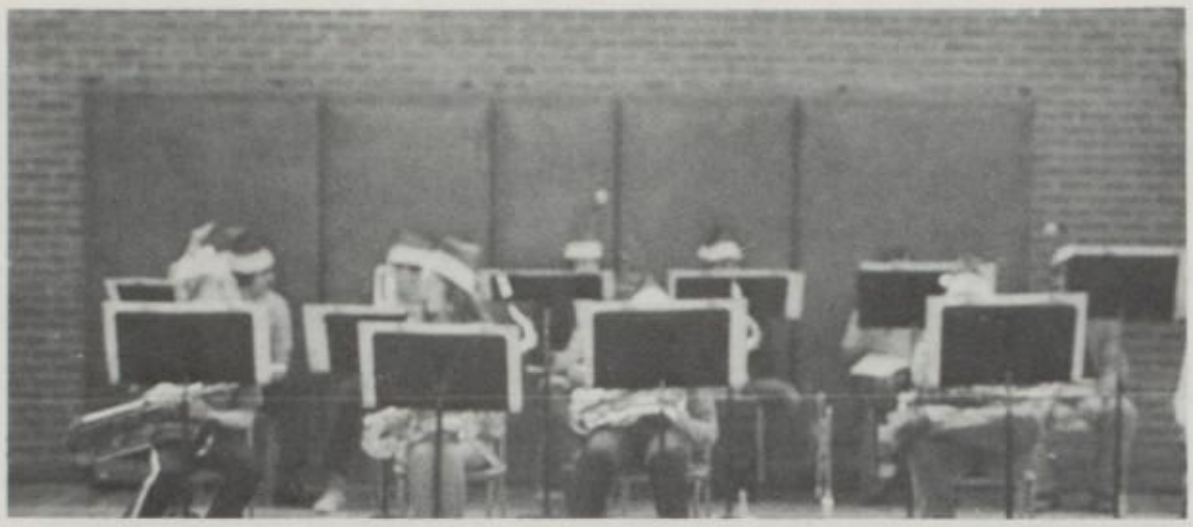
MR. MARCUS BRINGS MUSICAL INNOVATIONS

The melodious strains of "Hello, Dolly" and barbershop lilted from the music rooms as Mr. Alvin Marcus, new to WHS this year, introduced some "old styles" of music into the department's repertory. Adding more innovative touches, Mr. Marcus organized Barbie Smith, Debbie Gladish and Sherrie Farrell into an outstanding trio that lent its singing voices to school assemblies and community functions as well.

The girls' chorus and mixed chorus blended their talented voices throughout the year, and the boys' chorus rounded out a musically busy season by joining with the Drama Club to stage "Oliver" for the school's spring play.

Mr. Bearden contributed to the department's new offerings with a beginning guitar class and added musical sparkle to assemblies with his versatile stage band.

Mr. Marcus, new WHS chorus director, listens to students sing.



Honor Band entertains at Christmas assembly.

Mr. Morgan, who is new at WHS this year, teaches crafts and heads the photographers. Here he checks papers.

Mr. Salmon lends a helping artistic hand

Mr. Grosscup welcomes his class at the door.

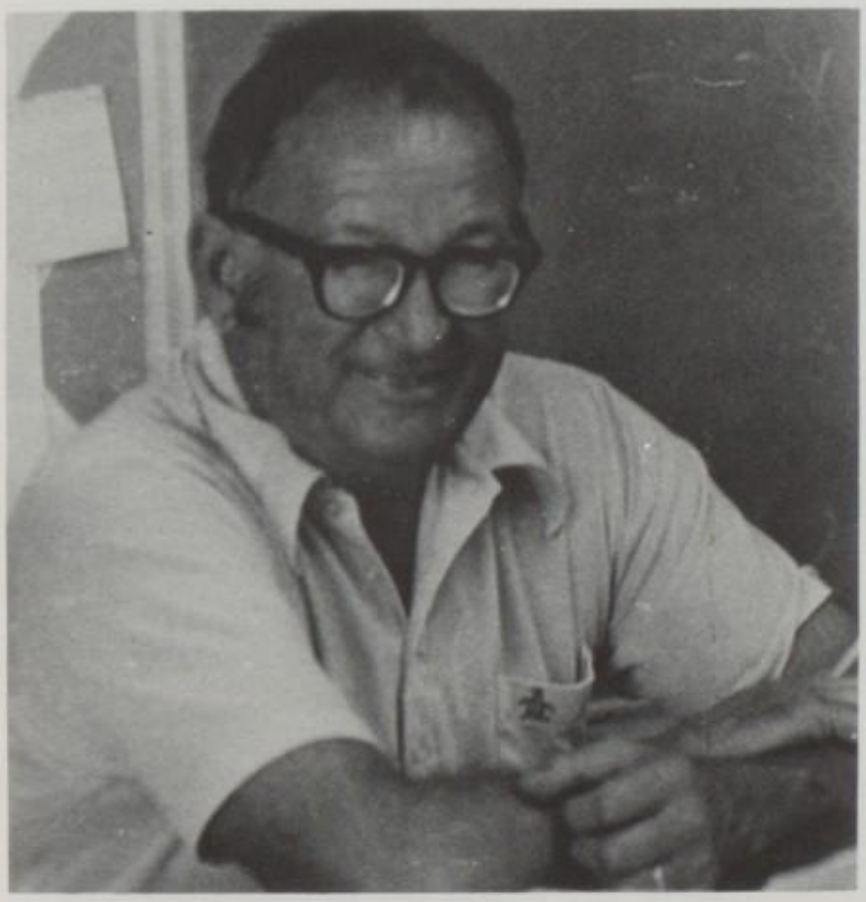
Creativity in crafts makes Miss Ewy smile.

Officer Jess Ingles, WHS PAYS officer teaches students about law.

AGRICULTURE UPDATES CURRICULUM

New courses blossomed in most departments this year, but probably the most far reaching changes occured in the industrial arts.

The Agriculture department is changing its curriculum to meet the needs of workers in a variety of agricultural jobs. Courses added to the basic animal and plant science classes include basic and advanced horticulture, agricultural resourses and small gasoline engines. Next year agriculture will begin offering full two year study of horticulture.



Mr. Ulichny smiles as he learns all his students passed their license test.

Mr. Condit patrols the lunch room during 2nd lunch.

BUSINESS

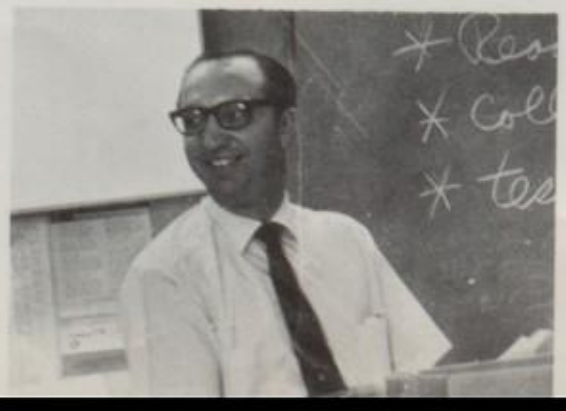
This year the Business Education department discussed the idea of offering typing courses to freshmen. Some problems that could arise with this plan are: 1. The freshmen are not yet adapted to the high school, thus causing them to have to take some time to adjust to the new environment. As a result, their skills in typing would take much longer to develop. Another reason is, the freshmen may tend to take Typing 1-2, then skip the next typing course and pick it up again during their junior year. This causes a great many problems for juniors. Their typing speed and accuracy have then decreased and they will have forgotten many of the important rules used in typing.

Students sometimes find it hard to follow Mrs. Randolph's instructions.

Mrs. Horrigan is a great typing teacher, but what is she doing in the cafetorium? Sneaking a peek at the daily lunch?

Some people have other ways of doing business.

What could Mr. Gould be thinking of, test or exams?



It's quite easy to get a smile out of Mrs. Barrick.

Mrs. Soulvie, who took the place of Mrs. Ericson, has been extremely helpful as a reference librarian.

LIBRARY ADDS MEDIA CENTER

A new room, called the Media Center, has been added to the library. Video cassettes and tapes are available in this room for classroom use.

In the future, Mr. Pinney, the Media Center director, would like to have a closed circuit T.V. in the Center, produce T.V. productions, and beam them to the classrooms. Already the German Class has made a commercial. The room has been used for outside speakers to come to talk to classes about interesting subjects.

Assisting Mr. Pinney is Mrs. Jane Preston, and the reference librarian is Mrs. Judy Soulvie.

Washington students make good use of the school's library.

Mr. Pinney, who assists students with valuable information for reports, has enabled several students to pass their classes.

Mrs. Preston is our fountain of information in our library.

COUNSELORS AID IN CAREER CHOICES

Besides rearranging schedules of discontented students and listening to the complaints of those who can't have their schedules changed, the counseling department of Washington High conducts vital career and college oriented projects throughout the year. Their outstanding project was Career Exploration, held twice during the year. Students in this program spent several periods after school with the counselors being orientated about the opportunities and requirements for the different careers they had selected. They then spent several hours with professionals in their selected career so they could acquaint themselves thoroughly with the world of business, industry and science on a first hand basis. The department also went beyond the bounds of high school by working on a filmstrip introducing WHS to eighth graders.

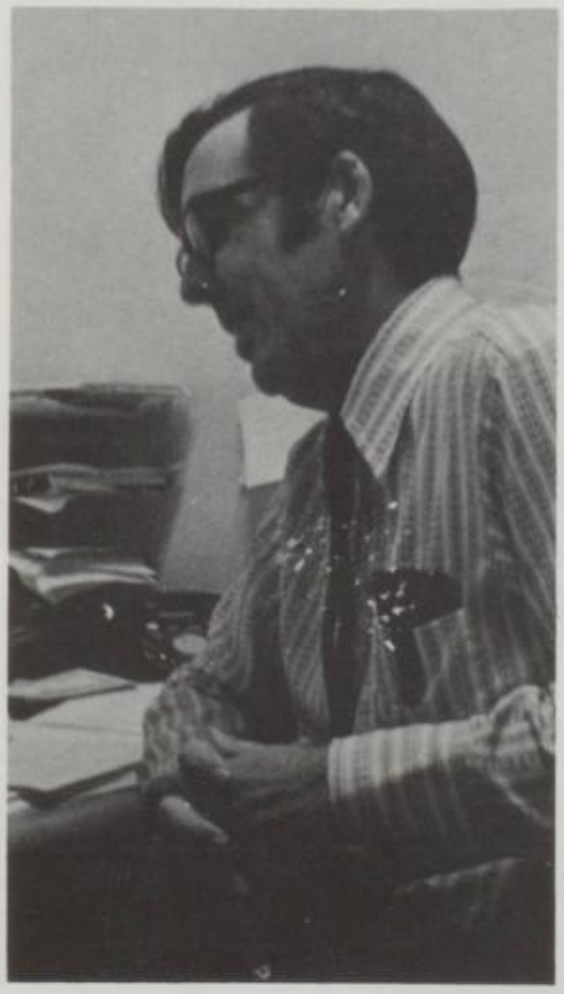
Mrs. Glenna Frye, credentials clerk and Mrs. Noreen Griffin, clerk typist help students register for school.

Mrs. Murphy, our school nurse, fills out a form for a student.

Mrs. Betty Noble, receptionist, checks incoming mail.

Besides counseling students, Mr. Morgan sponsors Student Council.

Mrs. Pam Ligon, clerk typist, types the daily attendance list.



Mr. Broderick, head counselor, helps other counselors as well as students.

Bookstore manager Mrs. Helen Stroup checks the account books.

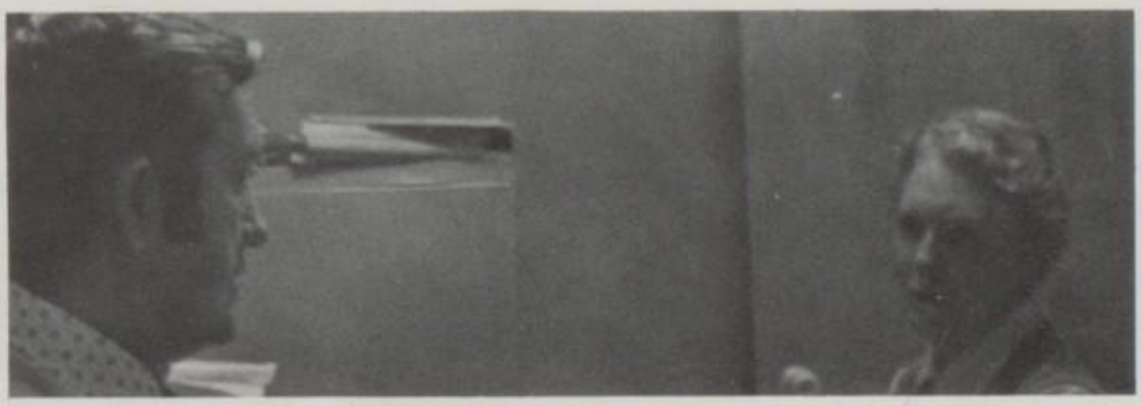
Mrs. Ruth Smith, attendance office assitant, looks over the absentee list.

Mrs. Inga Lorch assists in the front office.

Counselor Mrs. Elnora Krause checks her calendar. Who's next?

Mrs. Myrtle George greets a student into her counseling office.

Mr. Emmett Murray helps a counselee decide what courses to take.



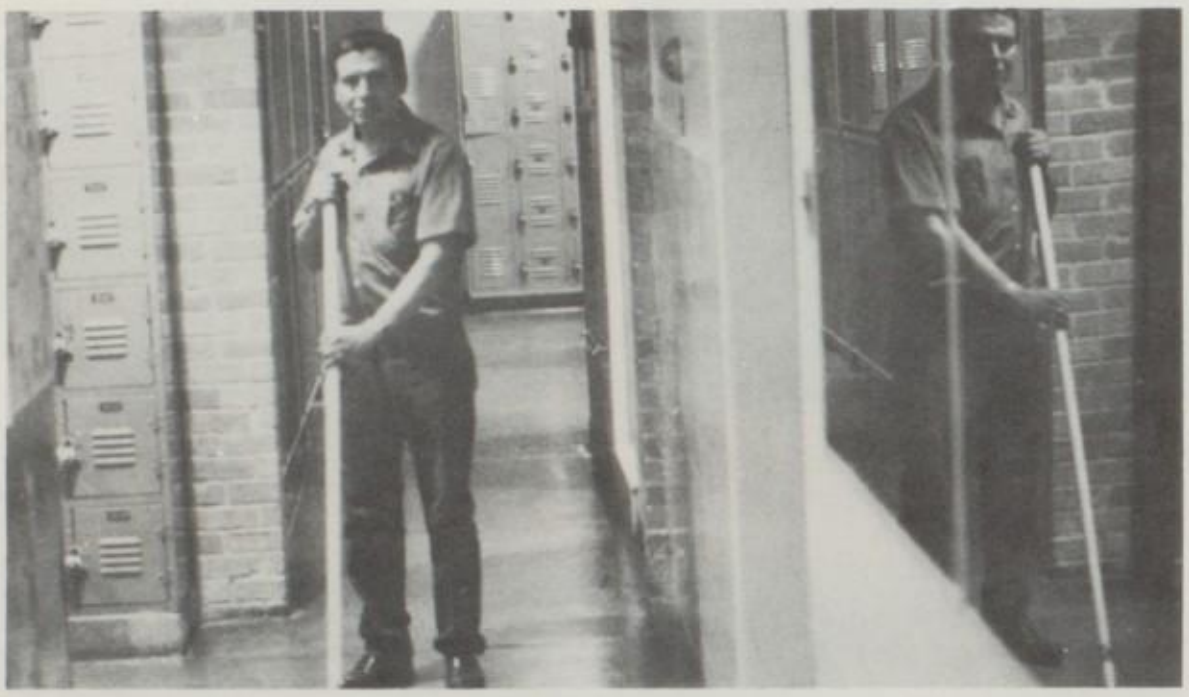
Mr. Morgan and Mrs. Schroeder discuss new classes for students.

With the care and feeding of over 2,000 WHS students and staff as their major responsibilities, the custodial and food service workers have their work cut out for them.

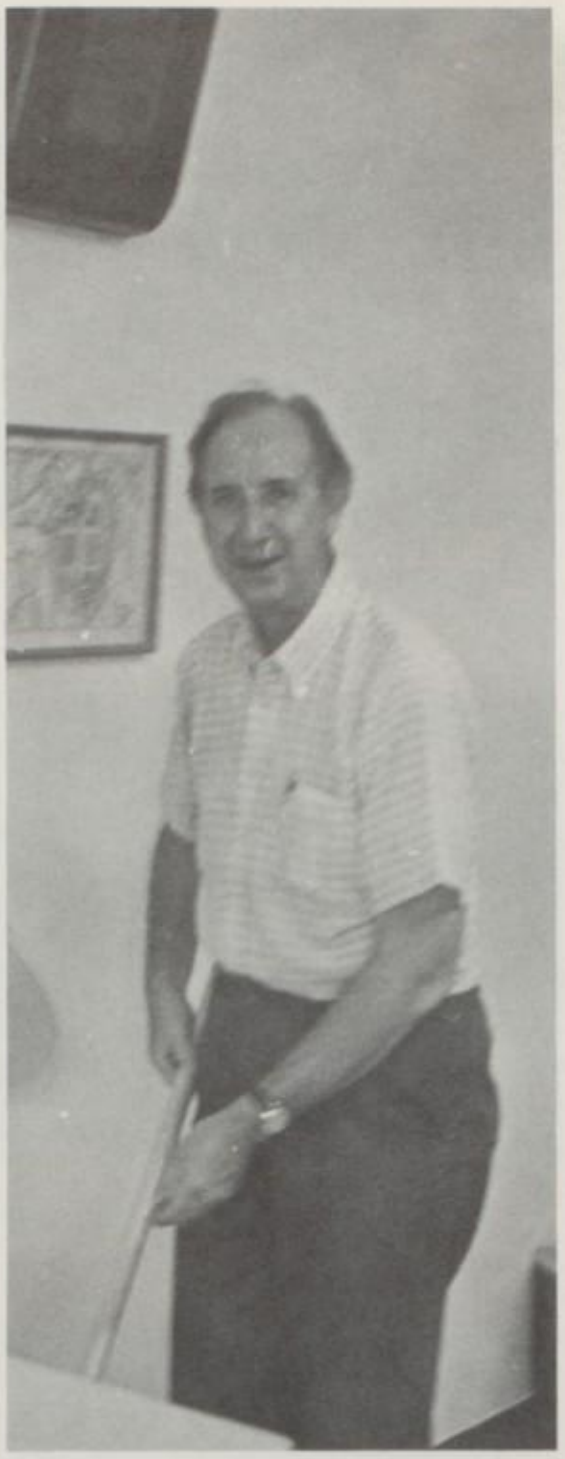
Nine custodians, under the direction of Mr. Joe Aguilera, spend long hours each day keeping every room on campus clean, repairing or replacing furniture, windows, and equipment, grooming the grounds, even opening jammed lockers and delivering mail.

Mr. Forrest Saltsman, our man of many names-call him Barry, Frosty, Forest or Woody- overseas the parking lot, trying to keeping speeding and illegal parking at a minimum.

Mrs. Dorothy Bentley directs eight co-workers in planning nutritional menus, budgeting, and providing daily lunches and snacks.



Jesse Lopez mops up.



Wilbur Carr keeps our rooms spic and span.

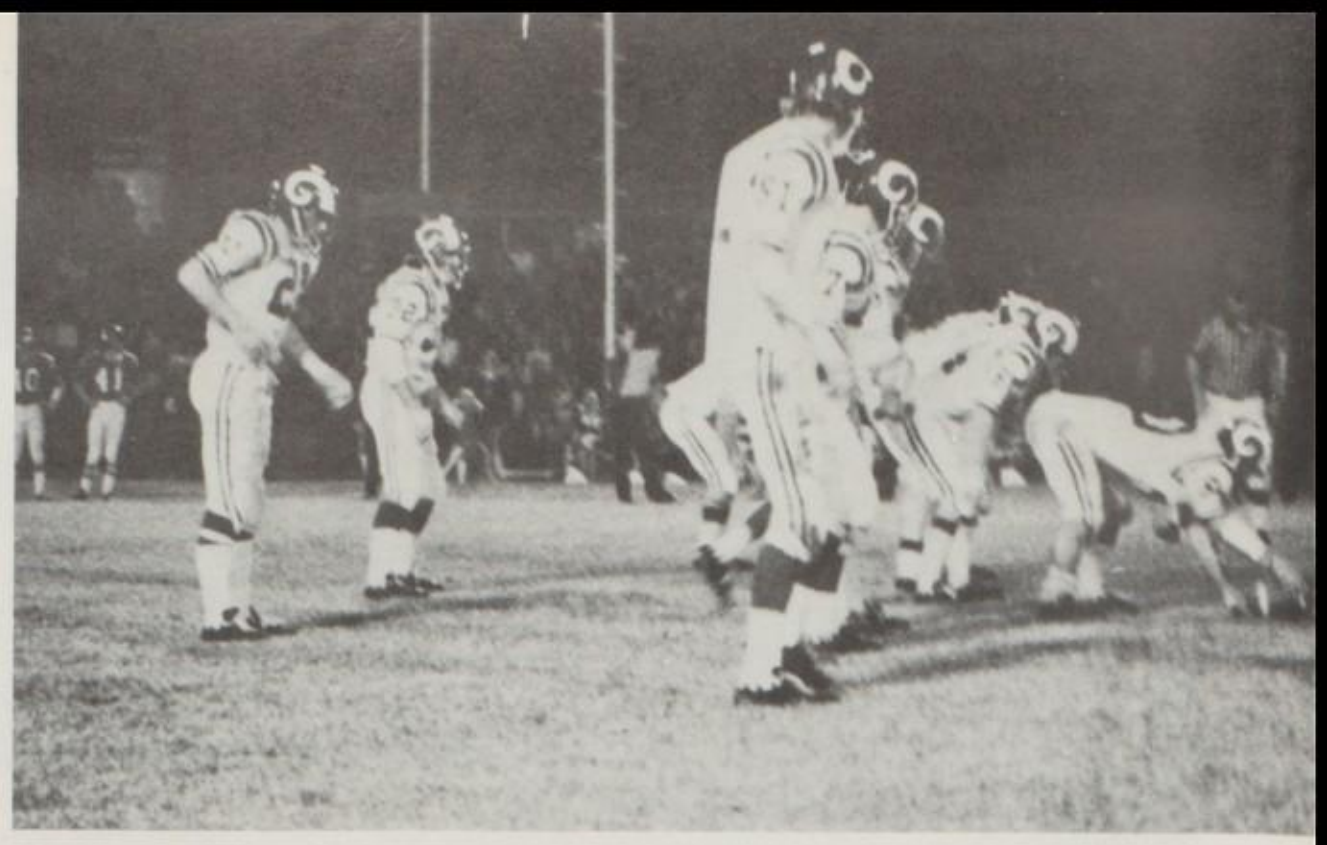
VARSITY ENDS UP AT THE BOTTOM OF THE HOLE



The Varsity football players line up on the ball as they get ready to charge.

Barry Wilson punts the ball down-field as Ray Peters (70) takes care of one would-be attacker. Ted Williams (75) and Mark Majors (65) wait for others.

Brad Gagner takes off with the ball while Joel Helsper makes a fake bootleg.

PERHAPS NEXT YEAR

Once again Washington's hopes for a championship football team were dashed as the varsity ended up the season at the bottom of the pile.

In the first game against Alhambra, the Rams played fiercely and, although they lost, made a good showing. In the second game against Glendale, however, neither team played well in a slow game that should have been a victory for WHS. The next week, matched up with Prescott, the Rams finally showed their potential as they drubbed the Badgers in a 17-0 shut-out.

The next four games were also shut-outs, but this time it was the Rams who didn't score. A long four weeks later they finally ended the shutout streak when a touchdown was scored against Moon Valley. But it came too late in the game to do any good, since MVHS had already racked up 34 points.

During the last home game, Washington won their second game in a fight with Flagstaff that ended with a respectable score of 17-6. In the last game of the season Washington was up against their old archrival, Sunnnyslope. They fought hard to win and for a while it looked as though they would. In the final quarter, though, they let the Vikings out from under their thumb and lost by one point with a score of 20-21.

The J.V. team's season wasn't much better with a record of 3-4-2. The Frosh A team tied one game and lost all the rest. The Frosh B team was the one team that had a decent season ending up with a record of 5-2-1.

JV swimmers flash their smile of victory

SWIMMERS HAVE UNDEFEATED SEASON

Undefeated in dual competition for the second year in a row, the girls' swim team copped its second district championship in two years of existence.

Coached by Brian Metheny, the team boasted a large squad of 70 talented swimmers which included divers and strokers that ranked high in state.

Proof of this talent came many times through the year as three of the squad (Sandy James, Jodi Gordon, and Vicki Smith) competed internationally against the Mexican Olympic team.

Also grabbing honors, Sandy, Shelly Ames, Jodi, Michele Pochop, Vicki, and Rosemary Milo competed in national competition.

And if that wasn't enough; the squad's 200 medley and 400 freestyle relay teams qualified for all American high school honors, as swimmers Ames, James, Gordon, and Pochop annihilated competition in the state.

All this of course did not come without practice. Every day, the varsity under Coach Metheny, and the JV's under Craig Johnson swam at least 2 ½ to 5 miles in practice.

VARSITY CROSS-COUNTRY PLACES TENTH IN STATE

This year's cross-country teams were as good as some of the football teams were bad. All three teams, Varsity, J.V. and Frosh, went to the divisionals. The varsity came out on top of the Skyline division and went on to state where they placed tenth. Dave Mackey, the lone junior of the team, placed third as an individual.

The coaches of cross country were Scott Giddings, a former WH track star and Bruce Frankie, a former assistant track coach at Cortez. They both hope to do as well next year, even though most of the varsity will graduate at the end of this year.

There is a sudden flurry of activity under the basket as the Rams try to prevent the opposing team from scoring.

Although this year's Varsity basketball team wasn't especially remarkable, they did do a good job and ended up the season with a respectable record. Coach Major said that his team had a "very good attitude, was very coachable, and was enjoyable to work with." He felt that the most outstanding players were: Mike Fast, Jim Nye, Mike Willeford, Ted Kohl, and Pat Devlin, a sophomore who was moved up from the JV team.

The JV team under Coach Gardner developed a lot of potential and played some excellent games, and so it is hoped that they will do even better next year on the Varsity. The Freshman teams under Coaches Goodwin and Babcock didn't do quite as well but their coaches expect they'll improve as they go along.

BASKETBALL HAS ANOTHER GOOD YEAR

CHESS PLAYERS HAVE DIFFICULT YEAR

It's black's move, and it looks as if he might be in trouble.

Two wood pushers plan the strategy they will use to try to outwit each other on the battle ground between them.

Although ranked as one of the top teams in the state, the WHS chess team had a very disappointing year. Composed of mostly juniors, the woodpushers faired very poorly despite their role as hosts of the chess team state championships at WHS.

The year had started out well enough, as individual, members walked off with high prizes; Robert Connolly took second in the Rocky Mountain booster, Roger Tang first in the Copper State Booster and Ricky Miskowski second in the Arizona Novice.

Still, the loss of graduating state individual champ Franklyn Yao hurt, and the lack of organizing didn't help. Supposedly, there were to be formed chess leagues in the state, but the team never heard about their scheduling.

By January, jobs and other activities had mixed up the team's scheduling to the point where JV players had to be brought up to play on varsity in tournaments. At Districts, only two players made it at all while at the Cortez quad three varsity made it one week while nobody showed up the next.

On the other hand, the club did better as they made it one of the classiest state tournaments ever. A separate skittles room with TV, stereo, and refreshment were compliments of the club as they also sold pop and cookies.

SWIMMERS HOPE TO RETAIN TITLE

At press time no swimming meets had yet been held, but it looked like a good year ahead for the tankers since a large number of last year's state champions had returned. Coached by Mr. Brian Metheny, the swimmers hoped to keep the state title. They stood a good chance of doing so with strong distance, relay, and freestyle men.

WRESTLERS DO WELL

The Varsity wrestling team, under Coach Swerdfeger, did very well in spite of their inexperience. They improved steadily through the year and by the end of the season had developed into a good team.

Coach Metheny said his JV grapplers were "one of the best grops he ever worked with." He mentioned Randy Ely, Vince Burroughs, John Hill, Curt Frinkle and Mark Majors as his best wrestlers. Mr. Porianda, a former wrestler here at Washington, coached the Frosh wrestlers.

FRESHMAN SPRINTERS AIM FOR DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIP

Head coach Mr. Bruce Frankie pinned his hopes on a strong freshman track team to take the District Championship this year. Especially outstanding at the season's beginning was Keith Topham, who cleared more than ten feet in pole vaulting. Steve Argo and Pat Bolley were promising strong freshman weightmen, while Doug Western led the pack in sprinting.

Heading the roster of upperclass stars were distance men Dave Mackey and Jeff Lind. Hurdles coach William Robinson named Jim Kleissle a strong hopeful, and weightman Dave Wiener was the highlight of coach Dwight Bennett's lifters.

PAGEL'S SLUGGERS FACE SEASON HOPEFULLY

"We have a very inexperienced bunch, but if they play the way they should, they'll do well," remarked Mr. Thomas Pagel, coach of the varsity baseball team.

The team's seniors were Gary Thompson, pitcher; Joel Helsper, catcher; Tony Cartto, infielder and Darrell Winter, who plays any position. Junior players were Pete Henderson and Ted Munoz, infielders; Gary Morgan, pitcher and John Burnham, outfielder.

TENNIS TEAMS TRIUMPH

"A desire to play better and work as a team" was the motto of the varsity tennis team. The players were hard workers and won most of their games, losing a few by close margins.

"In the future, the team should be mature enough to place well in the divisionals," said Coach Christoferson.

Earlier in the year the Freshmen tennis team under Coach Jerry Kopke played very well and ended up their season with a record of seven wins and one loss.

Coach Kopke named Jack Miskowski, Craig Workinger, Don Davis and Dan Pirtle as his outstanding players.

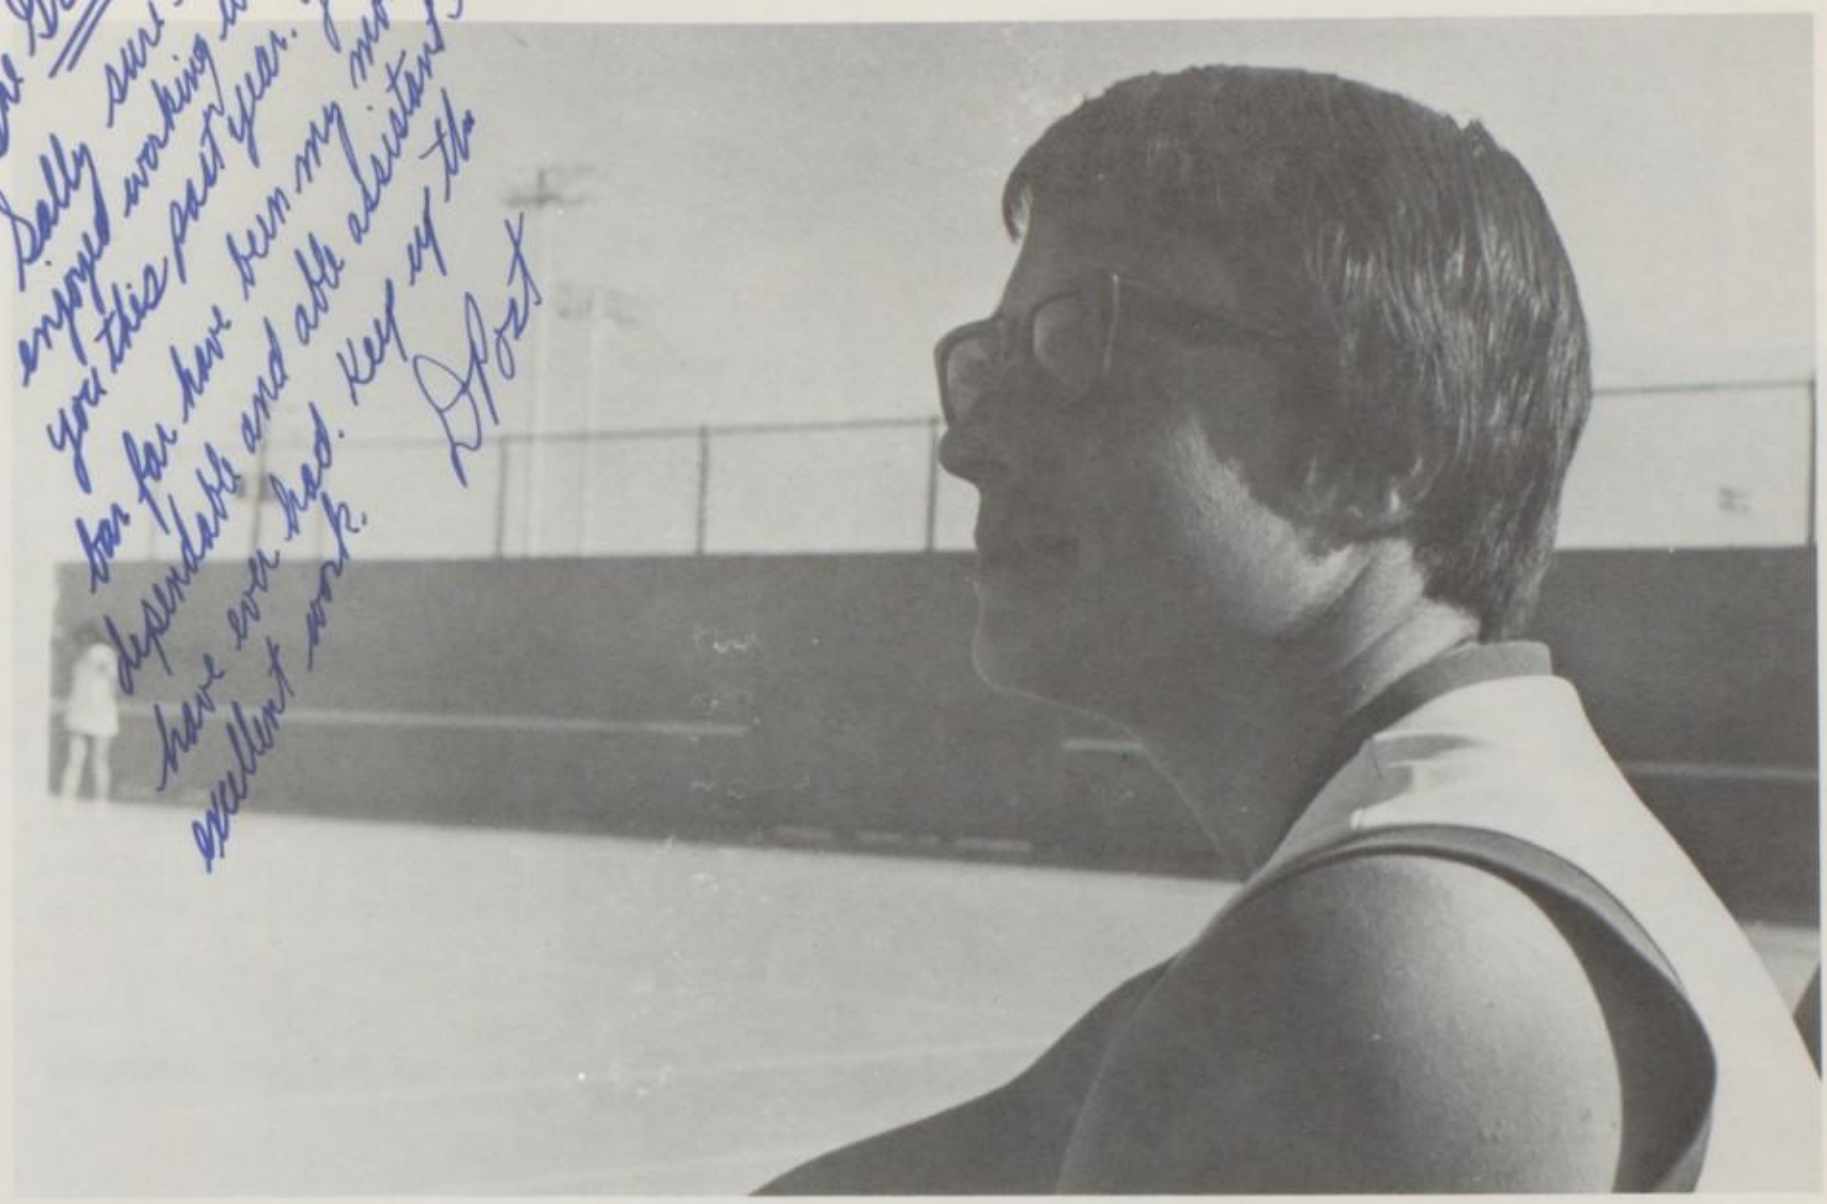
TENNIS



The Greatest!
Sally sure have enjoyed working with you this past year. You have been my most dependable and able assistant I have ever had. Keep up the excellent work.
D Post

As of March 3, 1974, this was the picture of girls' tennis:

The varsity team had won 5 games and lost 4, and the J.V. had only lost one, and only by one point.

The three seniors are: Terri Ray, Vicki Stockwell, and Cindy Boltz.

Some of the won-lost records are:
Linda Pond-won 7, lost 1.
Linda Perry-won 9, lost 0.
Lori Klevan-won 6, lost 2.
Debbie Nims-won 5, lost 1.
Terri Bell-won 5, lost 0.

The two teams expected to pose the most problems are Xavier and Apollo.

The divisional tournament will be held April 26 and 27 at Moon Valley. The top six players from each school will be able to participate.

Miss Post, coach, predicts that the WHS team will take second in divisionals and possibly first if Nancy Sauer is able to play after tearing some ligaments in her ankle earlier in the season. The top four teams will go to State.

BADMINTON

For the Varsity team, Anna Cramer had the best win-lose record. She won 12 and lost 1. For the J.V.'s, it was Jeannie Ceasor winning 8 and losing 1.

The J.V.'s did very well, which may be good because they are losing four out of five varsity players. They are: Vicki Stockwell, Terri Ray, Cindy Boltz, and Val Smith.

The Varsity and J.V. badminton teams played a total of 137 matches this year. The varsity won 51 matches to their opponents' 24 and the J.V.'s won 43 to their opponents' 19.

Three girls went to State, they were: Vicki Stockwell, Terri Ray, and Cindy Boltz. Terri and Cindy placed third in doubles and with Vicki's help, they took third as a team.

PEP CLUB RALLIES ON!

Featuring one of the most unusual floats in recent years, the WHS Pep Club whipped through the year rallying spirit and support for the athletic teams.

As one of the Biggie clubs on campus, Pep Club helped liven up the revived Homecoming with their variation on the theme "Love Is. . . ," "Love Is Friends." With about ten Pep Club members, the "float" showed up for the parade as ten individual boxes proclaiming the merits of love and friendship.

All through the year, the Pep Club kept busy with its self-appointed duties as befits a campus Biggie, including one of the most successful dances featuring Hillary Blaze. Running pep assemblies, painting crash posters, team morale boosting, and decorating locker rooms (players and all) was nothing for the 60 plus members of Pep Club.

Appropriately enough as a prestige organization, Pep Club through the year donated cash to the various can drives and sponsored post football game dances. This year's officers were: president Claire Prather; vice-president, Kathy Stafford; secretary, Cynthia Miller; treasurer, Jane Hill; and publicity managers, Suzanne Patterson and Debbie Wood. The sponsers for the club were Mrs. Wilma Bender and Mrs. Patricia Drinen.

Pep Club members listen as ..... president Claire Pather outlines duties for the Cortez game while the vice-president, Kathy Stafford, writes information on the board.

DIPPERS KEEP IT COOL!

Swimming, the coolest sport on campus, was supported by the Skinny Dippers. These girls serve as timers, runners, and provide refreshments and encouragement for Arizona's swimming champions.

For homecoming, the Skinny Dippers made a float "Love is .... All sizes, Shapes and Colors," which won third place.

Funds for the '74 season were raised selling animal crackers, having a car wash, a bake sale and other fund raising projects.

This year's officers were: President, Pam Wallace; Vice-president, Doree Willet; Secretary, Diane Brown; Treasurer, Cathy Traber, and Meet Director, Susie Winn. Mrs. Ruth Boyle provided the faculty leadership.

SCHOOL SPIRIT MAIN CONCERN OF USHERETTES

They weren't the largest, but they were one of the most enthusiastic groups of spirit raisers at WHS this year. Concerned primarily with whipping up school spirit, the twelve Usherettes sold Ram stickers at the beginning of the football season, distributed programs at home football games, and ushered at school plays, musicals, at open house, and at graduation.

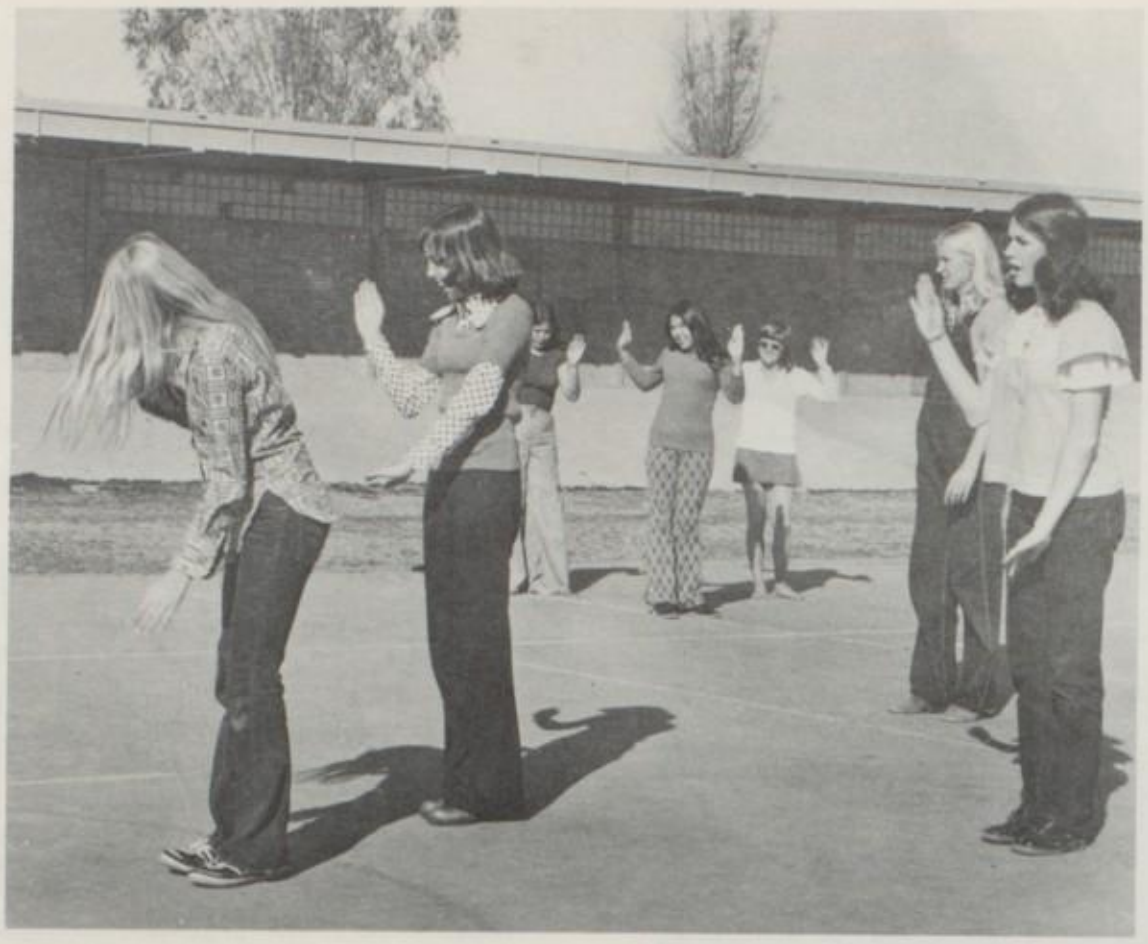
Among their other spirited contributions to school and community were providing college scholarships to some of their members and supplying food and clothing to a needy family for Christmas.

Sponsor of the group was Mrs. Powers.

G.A.A., ONE OF COUNTRY'S BIGGIES

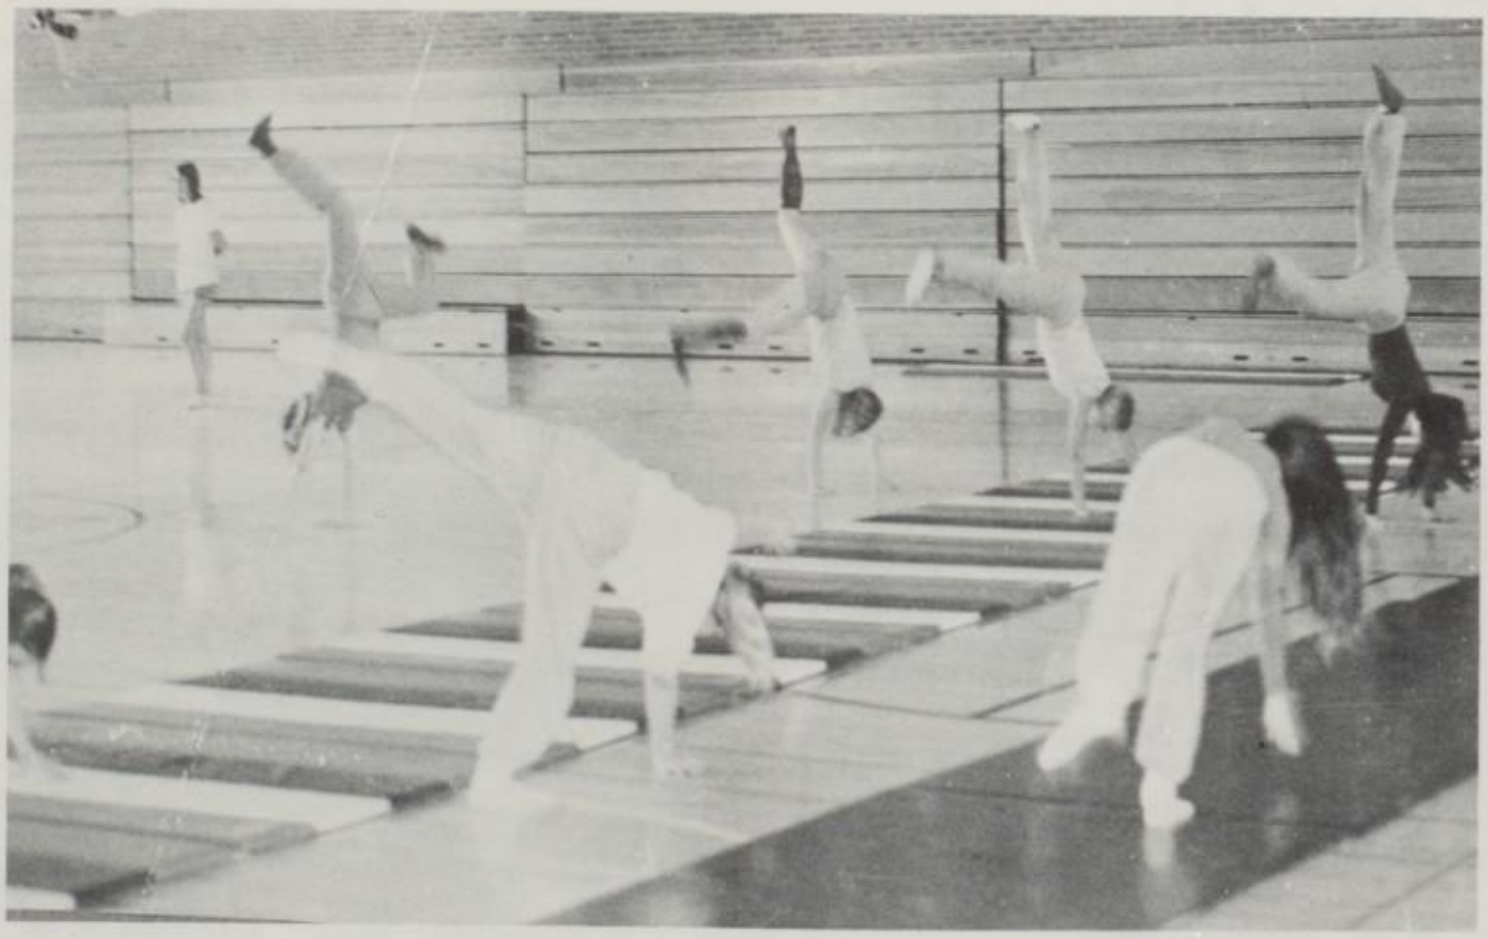
Boasting approximately 400 members, the W.H.S. GAA is one of the largest athletic clubs in the U.S. The club is based on interest and participation in sports and dance. Joining GAA to benefit her physique and health (and have fun in the process) each girl can earn her letter and various other awards.

This year's officers were: President, Doree Willett; Vice-President, Gina Borgo; Corresponding Secretary, Melody Dunstan; Recording Secretary, Donna Garrett and Linda Lugo; Treasurer, Vicki Mallrich; Publicity Manager, Toni Blaser.



Above: One of the highlights of the year is the G.A.A. Dance Program. These girls are learning their dance and will work on it for more than a month before performing it with other dances at two assemblies and one evening show.

Below: All through the school year, members of GAA participated in a variety of sports such as archery, fencing, swimming, and as seen below, tumbling.

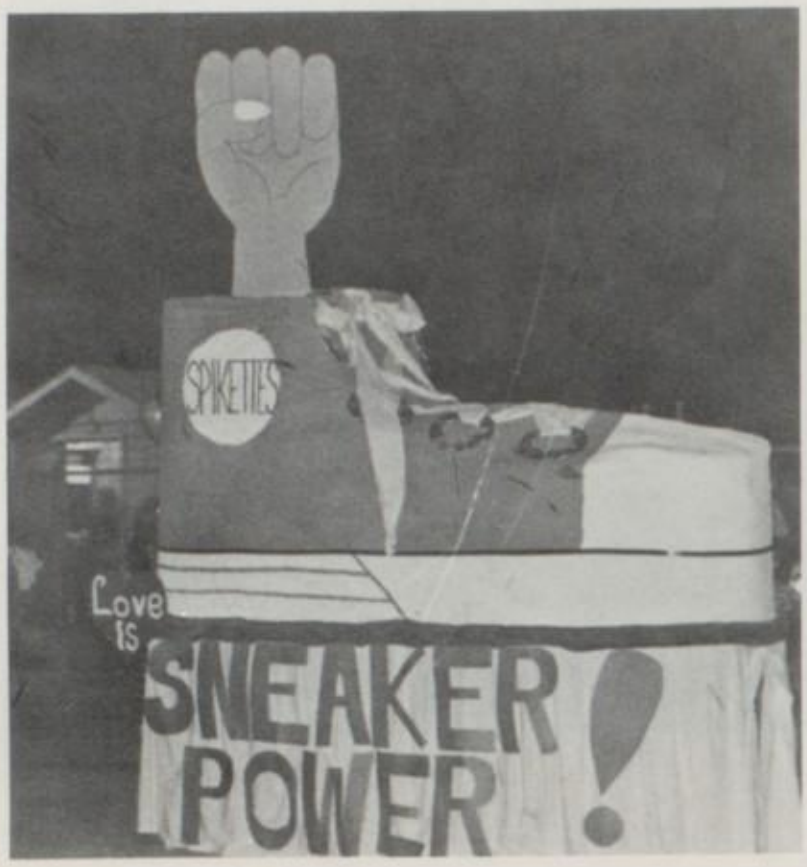


DIAMOND DOLLS HELP SLUGGERS RUN BASES

Forty female baseball fans spent the diamond season retrieving stray bats and fly balls for their favorite sluggers. Having already raised money for the wire fence on the field, this year's group directed their energies toward raising money for equipment and timing the players to help them improve their speed around the bases.

Directing this group of spirited Dolls was president Vicki Mallrich, assisted by vice-president Lori Mara. Tracey Baugh kept track of the money they raised, while secretary Diane Megee kept the records and Celeste Collwell arranged the publicity. Kim Follett acted as seargent-at-arms. Mrs. Ellis and Mrs. Randoloh provided the faculty leadership.

SPIKETTES GET TEAMS OFF AND RUNNING



Who can a cross country runner count on to stir up publicity and enthusiasm for himself and his team? Who can a sprinter depend upon to cheer him on across the finish line? Who can track coaches call on to assist at meets? The Spikettes offer the capable answer to all those needs.

Directed in their dedication to the track and cross country teams by president Patsy Crofford, these girls display their loyalty by handily winning second place in the Homecoming parade with their "Love is .... Sneaker power," float.

The cross country runners and their Spikettes demonstrated their mutual admiration by sharing the fun of a hayride in late February. In March, the girls held a carnival to raise funds for their enterprises.

President Patsy was assisted by Vice-president Janice Donnelly; treasurer, Cathy Valle; secretary, Ann Dando; and publicity managers, Kathy Russ, Jane Van Dyke, Lori Follett and Terri Slaughter. Mrs. Rita Boulet was the faculty sponsor.

MAIDS "MAKE LIFE HAPPIER"

Twenty-seven WHS co-eds dedicated a large part of their school year to performing services designed to make wrestlers and their coaches a little happier. Cheering at meets was just one of the many things the Mat Maids did for the wrestlers. They also kept score at all home meets, helped the coaches by putting together programs for the meets, and supplied energy-restoring oranges for the wrestlers after their matches.

These helpful girls assisted with the Invitational Wrestling Tournament held at our school this Christmas season and went along with the teams to meets at Flowing Wells, Flagstaff and Prescott.

President Pam Adcock kept all these activities organized, assisted by Vice-president Becci Craig, Secretary Cindy Davis and Treasurer Peggy Fallon. Kim Newton kept us all informed about the team as publicity manager, while historian Nancy Larson and Georgia Labuhn wrote it all down for posterity. Club sponsor was Miss Karen Glessner.

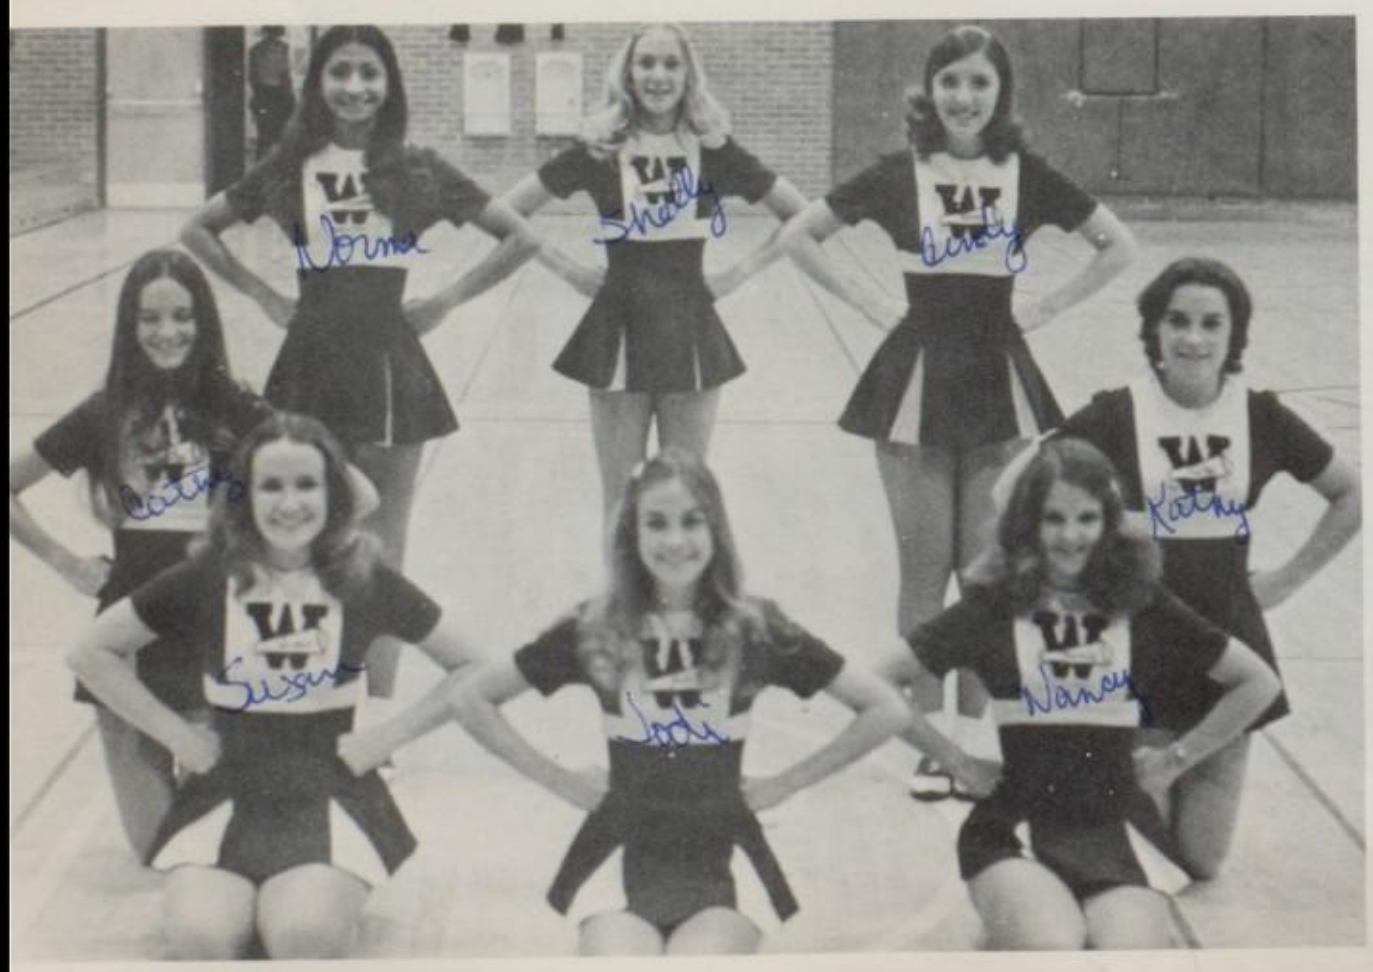
WHS IS



SPIRIT GROUPS IN ACTION

TWIRLERS, GYMNASTS WIN AWARDS ADD SPARKLE

WHS Majorettes all excelled at the U of A camp in July. They received a number one rating, earned 24 ribbons, as well as Outstanding Dance Group rating.

Some of our twirlers' fine performances included a two-baton fire routine at Home Coming, hoop-twirling for basketball, and a feature routine for Western Week.

Debbie Nodorp and Pam Wenzel were this year's Varsity Rambleairs. They performed at WHS football and basketball games, as well as at the State Fair, Band Day in Tucson, some ASU football games and in the Rodeo Parade.

Our Majorettes are (From Lower Left, Clock-wise) Barbara Ging, Dale Olson, Patsy Shah and Kathy Westphal.

After Football season, Pam left the line and J.V. Rambleair Jana Gagner replaced her for the remainder of the year.

Our attractive Rambleairs added a little extra sparkle to WHS. Right: Pam and Debbie display their gymnastic ability with this aerial.

JV CHEER SQUAD WINS HIGH AWARDS

Cheering at the JV football and basketball games, the JV cheerleaders added pep and spirit to two of WHS's most popular sports.

The JV squad went to the NAU cheer camp in Flagstaff along with the Varsity cheer.

Their outstanding performances there won them one "excellent" and five "superior" ratings and commendations that put them on a par with the Varsity line, with whom they shared the Spirit Stick. That's a fantastic record for a JV line and holds the promise of sensational cheering in the future.

Sophomores Kim Smith, Theresa Holland, Terry Victor, Meghan Blazer, Kelly Barr and Shauna Montierith make up this superior group. Mrs. Kemp and Miss Ewy provided the inspiration and direction.

JVRAMBLEAIRES ADD ZIP TO JV GAMES

Those daring lovelies doing aerial cartwheels and backhand springs at the JV football and basketball games are our JV Rambleaires. These talented girls, chosen for their outstanding ability in gymnastics, are on their way to joining the ranks of Varsity Rambleaires, with whom they performed in the GAA dance program. Acting as leaders in the Tumbling Club, they work under the inspirational instruction of Miss Smith constantly to improve their individual gymnastics skills. The results of their hours of practice are a joy to behold at the games.

Cathy Dahl, Norma Gonzales, Kathy Russ, Jodi Walch, Shelly Marque, and Susan Burruss lead the student body in a cheer at the Fall Sports assembly.

CHEER TAKE 2ND, TRY HARDER

The WHS cheerleaders started off their year with a bang, bringing home a whole clutch of awards from the National Cheerleader's Association camp in Flagstaff, Arizona.

Competing with cheer lines from all over the Southwest, the JV and varsity lines came off with awards for the most spirited, second best varsity line at camp, and straight superior ratings in daily competition.

From 8 a.m. till 10 p.m. at night, the lines dug into basic and advanced cheer techniques in classes, workshops, and competition all over the camp held on the NAU campus.

"We all got sunburned real bad and got hoarse from yelling," comments co-captain Nikki Weinder, "but camp was fun and a lot of hard work."

This hard work was continued when the cheerleaders came back home, as they spent up to two and a half hours per day at school perfecting cheers, practicing skits, and making life tolerable for their varsity teams, which included making goodies for the team, decorating their locker rooms, and making banners to cheer their team on to victory.

In addition, the cheer squad was called upon to host the many pep assemblies held throughout the year to boost school spirit for the student body.

POM GETS NATIONAL PRIZE, $300 FROM COKE

When the WHS pom line says they're number one, people have to agree as they proved it by bursting into the elite of pom groups as one of the three best in the nation.

It all began for the poms at the summer National Cheerleading Association Camp at the NAU camp in Flagstaff. Coached by Mrs. Irene Kemp, the pom line went wild, embarrasing squads from across the Southwest by snatching the camp Spirit Stick, plaque for highest individual competition points, 40 individual ribbons, and the Coca-Cola award for all around excellence, sportsmanship, cooperation, unity and best dance number.

As the Coca-Cola award winners, one of twenty in the country, the pom line has hoped to go on to national competition in Dallas, Texas. Another honor the girls received was over $300 worth of cheerleading merchandise.

Compared to national exposure, the normal school year could have been a let down, but the poms threw themselves into their school spirit bag, helping Pep Club run pep assemblies and dancing at football and basketball games.

Captain Lori Williams led these fine performers: Top Row, Sally Hinderland, Debbie Kidd, Cynthia Reynolds. Second Row: Lori Mara, Diane Yule, Laura Nolan. Seated: Denise Burns, Kathy Traber, Kathleen Yawner. On The Ground: Lori Williams, Joan Dunn. Not Pictured is Wendi Melmgren. The poms practiced after school, spending as much as twenty hours per week on routines, an effort which brought them such awards at "Superior" at the U of A Band Day. In between football and basketball season, two seniors, Wendi Malmgren and Laura Nolan left the squad. As a result, sophomores Denise Burns and Kathleen Yawner replaced them.

BAND TAKES UA GRADE

Highlights of the year for the Ram Marching Band came at three separate times. The first was the yearly Band Day competition at the UofA. There the band received a rating of "2" or "excellence" featuring songs like "Swayfaring Stranger" and "Sesame Street", with Dan Howard as "Big Bird." Before the competition they performed with many other bands at the UofA-Utah game, in the annual massed band halftime show.

The band's next bright spot was their annual appearance at the State Fair. Their half day at the fair started with a mini concert of marching music followed by a parade down the Avenue of Flags.

Their final trip was to the rodeo parade. Not only did the band march the length of the parade, many of them stayed to watch the rodeo as guests of the Phoenix J. C.'s.

The newly formed stage band performed first at the December 10 Orchestra-and-Choir concert. These talented musicians performed only three numbers, but they captured the hearts of the audience. Members of the newest musical group on campus are: Alan Adler, Terry Finn, Ken Keller, Kathy Hayes, Jeff Raybould, Steve Bentley, Doug Jordan, Josh LaBare, Dean Hunn, Rick Cummins, Craig Goodwin, Jim Kliesle, Diane Smith, Brad Patrick, Kathy Wright and Gary Safford.

This year's Advanced Band Club was a little slow in getting started, but soon they were in the swing of things. They raised money for ascot ties for their concert uniforms by selling gingerbread men the week before Christmas vacation. A.B.C. officers this year were: President, Ann Wheat; Vice President, Dan Flickinger; Treasurer, Robin Plummer; Secretary, Leslie

The band watches the game as intently as an eighth hour student watches the clock.

Very often during the year, the band and chorus cooperated as they did here, singing and playing "Pitch In."

ORCHESTRA HAS THREE IN HONOR ENSEMBLE

This year's orchestra won honors both individually and as a group. Three of its string players were placed in Symphonettes. They were: Collene Dunn, Viola; Claudette Dunn, Violin; Jean Whitmer, Violin.

The orchestra travelled to Tempe in the spring to compete against other orchestras in the area at the district orchestra festival.

THE CAST OF "GEORGE WASHINGTON SLEPT HERE"

DRAMA CLUB PRESENTS KAUFMAN AND HART COMEDY

George Washington slept where? Here- when the Drama Club presented George Kaufman's and Moss Hart's comedy about the trials and tribulations of owning a decrepit country mansion. Kaufman and Hart couldn't have realized how our cast could produce a show funnier than they intended. Our hilariously inventive actors changed original lines into comfortable talking and adlibbing when necessary.

Not all the humor was conversational adlib, however. Some resulted from production trials and tribulations that went beyond those experienced by the characters themselves.

The perfectly co-ordinated sound effects of the first performance went completely haywire the second time around. What actually happened is anyone's guess, but the intermission music didn't happen, thunder didn't roll, and rain didn't fall, leaving the audience to wonder why some of the characters were all wet. As if that wan't tribulation enough, the curtain got stuck after the first intermission, and a smoke bomb filled the room with smoke that was intended to be a simple fireplace routine. Even the ending was adlibed, a change made necessary by a missed cue.

Through it all, the cast enjoyed themselves tremendously, keeping their professional cool under stress, drinking, smoking, and cussing in the name of drama, and providing two hilariously successful nights of fun for an appreciatively entertained audience.

Mrs. Anderson casts a critical eye on a rehearsal.

SING, YE STUDENTS

Mr. Marcus, the new choir director and a welcome face.

This year there was a new and welcome face in the music department. Mr. Marcus, an exceptionally fine director, came to W.H.S. this fall and started a completely new program for the choirs.

He formed a Men's Choir the second semester, which began with seven boys and grew to over seventeen.

New to Acapella this year was the additon of freshmen voices. Acapella has improved greatly and will feel the loss of its many talented seniors.

More than doubling its size from last year, the Mixed Choir consisted of over thirty voices, representing all classes.

Mr. Marcus stated that the most important thing he is trying to teach is an enjoyment of all music as well as proficiency in singing.

MANY HANDS MAKE A DRAMA

Any Drama Club member can tell you there's a lot more to putting on a play besides acting. "George Washington Slept Here" and "Oliver" couldn't have gone on the boards without the help of such backstage supporters as the lighting crews, costumers, prop providers, make-up artists, and sound effects experts.

Guided by the experienced hand of Mrs. Toni Anderson, drama coach and stagecraft expert, club members applied talents some didn't even know they had to just such supporting roles.

Besides acting in each production, president Terry Hamilton coordinated members' efforts, which included putting on a dance to raise money for props and costume material. Karen Null served as vice-president, with secretary, Sue Murray; Treasurer, Lori Lewis, and publicity manager, Linda Miku.

MUSICAL COMES TO LIFE. . .

Mrs. Anderson goes over the script with the cast.

It has long been thought that WHS couldn't put on a musical because of all the work needed to put on that type of play. However, a grand and glorious change took place in the drama department in April of '74.

From Broadway to WHS came "Oliver!" The original cast it wasn't, but our cast had a four night hit before the crowds of Washington.

"Oliver!" was chosen for the spring play in November, and casting took place from December till the end of January. The play, after three months of rehearsals, was presented in April with all going as well for the play as the story goes bad, until the end, for Oliver.

The play, almost all sung, required the combined talents of choirs, orchestra, and dramatists.

Charlotte, played by Kathy Elliot, yells at Oliver, played by Terri Smith.

Jerry Costello and Linda Miku practice a song.

COE PROMOTES OFFICE CAREERS

Have you ever looked out your classroom window to see some of your senior friends getting out of class to go to work at a paying job while they receive a school credit? These seniors are part of the Co-operative Education Program offered by the district. It offers the senior with a career interest in office education a chance to work half a day and go to school the other half.

Realizing that all work and no play makes COE'ers dull, however, the group sparked up their year with guest speakers, "adopted" families for Thanksgiving and Christmas and had a surprise party for their sponsor Mrs. Loudene Ellis, at Halloween.

D.E.C.A. HOSTS REGIONAL CONFERENCE

Students in the Distributive Education Club were the hosts of the annual DECA conference which was held in the Metrocenter mall. Over 200 students from twelve Arizona high schools exhibited their skills and talents in advertising, sales and marketing contests.

All the students who are enrolled in DECA are provided with on-the-job training and in class training for careers in sales and marketing. DECA president was Esther Williams. Other officers were; vice president, Nancy Mannett; secretary, Vickie Scott; treasurer, Vicky Larson; publicity manager, Nancy Mozoski; historian, Lori Reed; and parliamentarian, Jeff Meinhold.

LEADERSHIP IS A REALITY FOR VICA

Washington High's twenty-nine Vocational Industrial Club of America enthusiasts demonstrated their leadership abilities in a number of outstanding ways. Their main achievement was serving as hosts to the Spring Leadership Conference, which involved over 1,000 VICA students from throughout the state. Jim Osborn brought leadership honor to the group as regional vice president.

Participating in community services as well, the club raised money to provide food and gifts for families for Christmas, Thanksgiving and Easter.

Sponsored by Mr. Stoeckel and led by president Greg Smith, these active Rams found time to round out their activities with volleyball and to enjoy a few social activities as well.

Other VICA officers included Emily Johnson, vice president; Ruth Beal, secretary; Linda Hutchins, treasurer; Mike Barstack, recorder, and Robert Larson, parliamentarian.

H.E.R.O. MEMBERS SHARPEN TALENTS

Pam Adcock and Allen Hammonds made outstanding contributions to H.E.R.O. Pam won the title of H.E.R.O.'s state secretary at the Leadership Conference at Moon Valley High School.

Allen was picked to go to California to learn about a new program called "Impact". On returning he went to schools teaching other students about the program.

FFA PROVIDES SCHOLARSHIPS

FFA is working harder than ever to establish leadership, co-operation in students, and an interest in agriculture. To realize these goals, they have had a horse show and three GCC field days. Activities in which both class and club members participate are games and an annual award banquet. New this year for the agriculture students are scholarships from the FFA treasury. The officers for FFA are: Matthew Payne, president; Renee Jolivette, vice-president; Cathy Bowser, secretary; Wayne Larson, treasurer; J.C. Burnett, sentinal, and Laurie Weston, reporter.

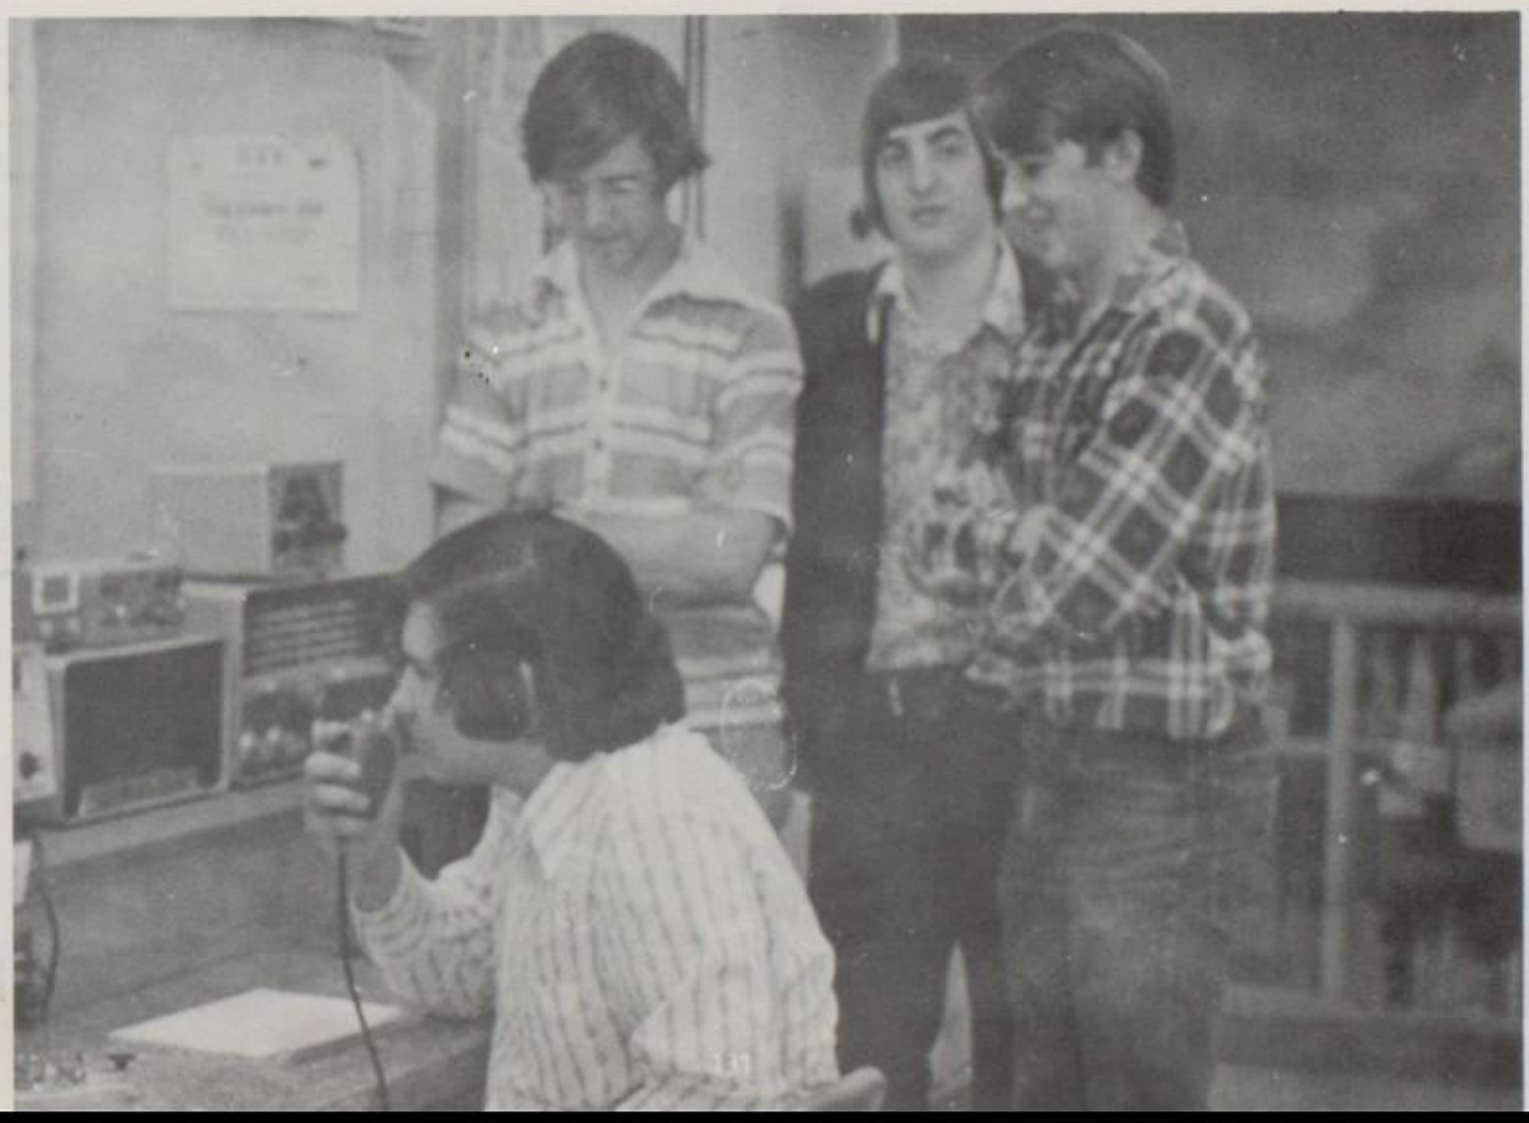
K7RLL CALLING . . .

Not every member of the Radio Club plans to make broadcasting their career, but each could take steps in that direction with the expert instruction of Mr. Russell Broten.

Seven communications minded boys met every Friday in the physics lab to learn Morse code and master the radio theory required to receive their amatuer radio licenses. Club president Don Kronenbitter and vice-president Doug Jordan, already holders of the novice license, worked toward qualifying for their general ticket.

Bernard Donlin, club secretary-treasurer, Mark Cook, Richard Fohl, and Paul Matt were the other active members who made good use of the club's radio and Mr. Broten's instruction. Club members urge other students to join the club and share in the fascination of radio broadcasting.



FUTURE TEACHERS DONATES AWARD

Becoming acquainted with what lies ahead of them, the Future Teachers provided tutoring and paper grading services to Washington teachers. As a contribution to their school, they donated the W.H.S. war memorial plaque. Early in the year a Christmas candle sale raised money for their project.

ARCHERY CLUB GROWS

In its second year, the archery club has attracted a growing number of eagle-eyed bowmen, both at the beginning and advanced stages of shooting skills. Meeting currently for recreation and sharpening their aim, the archers hope to participate in meets with other clubs in future years.

A car wash, sponge throw booth during Wally Cleaver Week, and a curb address stenciling project raised money for equipment.

Head marksman for this year was Joel Ezell. Sponsors were Mr. Campbell and Mr. Engelbrecht.

MOTHER NATURE AIDED BY ECOLOGY CLUB

The Ecology Club did their part for WHS by brightening up Mother Nature—an eight foot Christmas tree. Members traveled to northern Arizona early in December to find the tree which sparkled in the cafeteria.

To show how much they want to keep America beautiful, club members had a newspaper drive which netted ten tons for recycling. They also cleaned up a portion of Beaver Creek near Jerome during a field trip.

Eager to acquaint more people with the wonders of our natural environment, Ecology club members are on the lookout for more members.

President Frank Wolz led the club's activities, assisted by vice president Mike Donlin, secretary Terry Fabsitz, treasurer, Joe Donlin and publicity manager Virginia Chavarria.

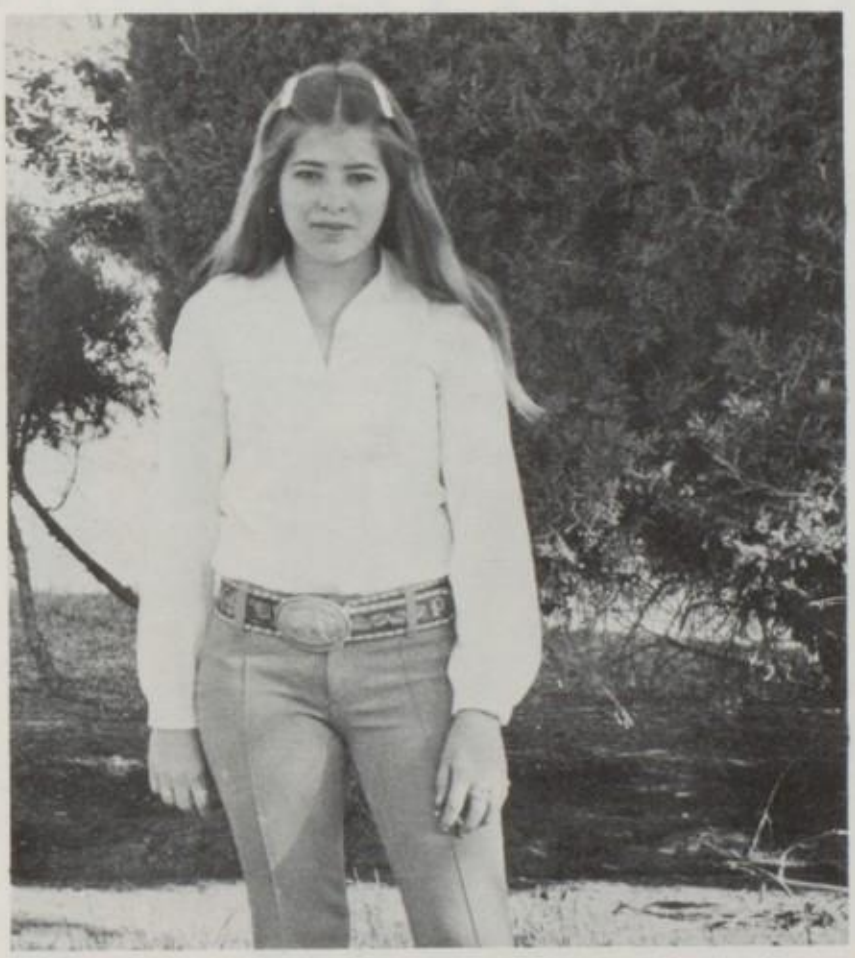
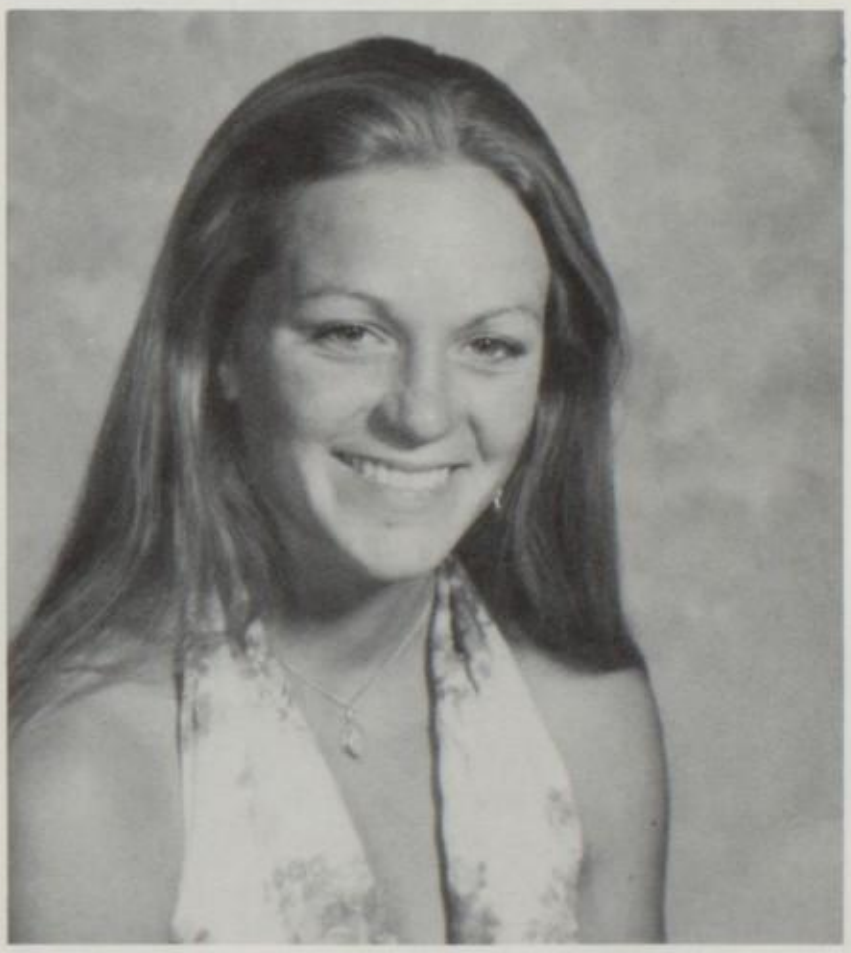
SWEETHEARTS

Nancy Mannett, runner-up in the Miss Arizona contest and WHS cheer girl, was chosen DECA Sweetheart.

Esther Battock, an active member of many clubs, was chosen ICE Sweetheart.



Pam Boyd, the FFA Sweetheart, is enough to make any guy want to be a farmer.



Pam Wenzel, varsity Rambleair and diver, was chosen Lettermen's Sweetheart.

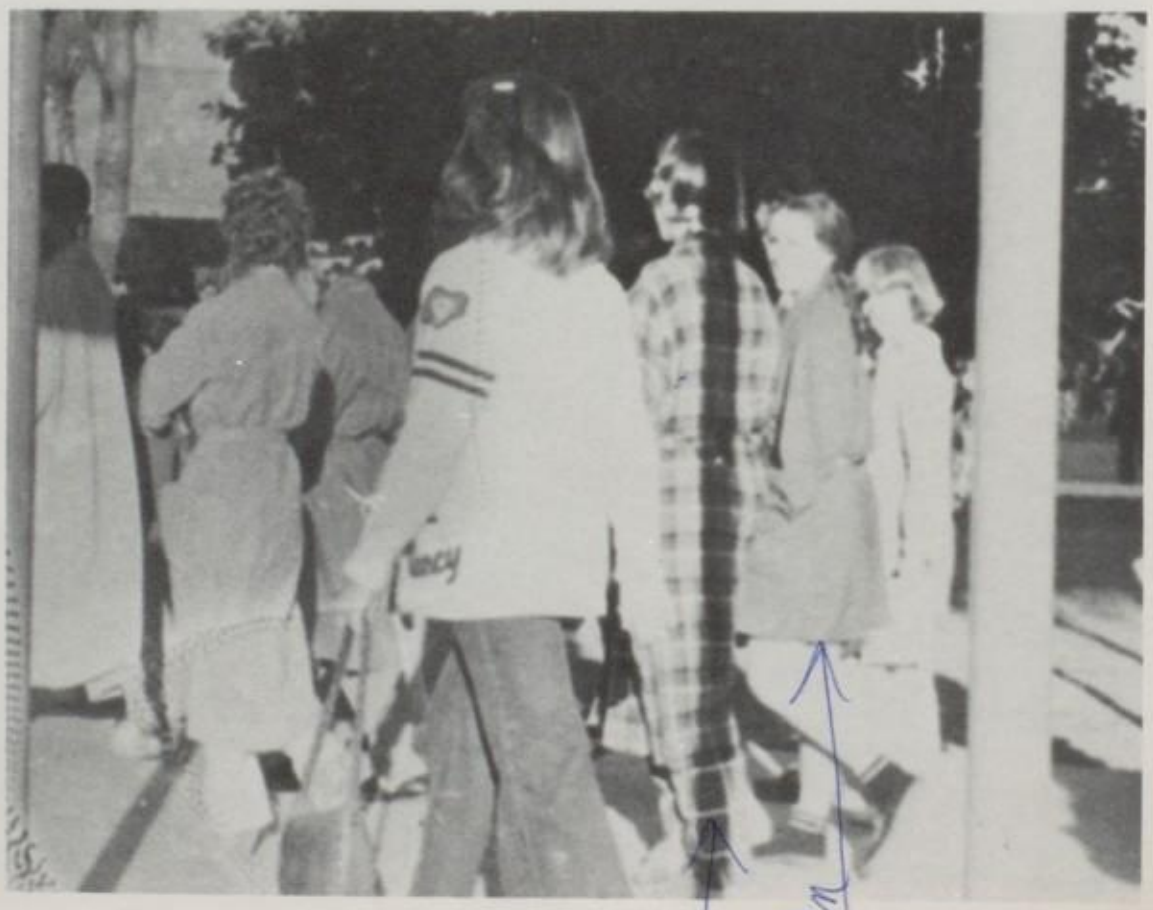
Lettergirls in "Uniform".

LETTERGIRLS JOIN LETTERMEN FOR HOMECOMING

The Lettergirls highlighted their active year by joining forces with the Lettermen to win first place in the Homecoming float contest. Not satisfied with that fame alone, they further demonstrated their school spirit by raising funds for scholarships and school projects.

Like their male counterparts, the Lettergirls open their ranks to all girls who have won varsity letters in any school sponsored club, sport, or activity. Among their members are letter wearers in tennis, pom, cheer, band, choir and journalism.

President Debbie Nodorp led this group of winners this year, assisted by Mallory Dale, Kathy Stafford, Vicki Mallrich and Cynthia Reynolds.



LETTERMEN HELP BUDDING ATHLETES

To help develop the athletic skills of grade schoolers who will be coming to WHS, the Lettermen sponsored elementary district football and basketball games, wrestling tournaments and track meets. In order to assure these future WHS athletes that they'll have proper equipment when they get here, the club bought such supplemental items as blazers and trophy cases for the athletic department.

Recognizing the importance of proper diet in the life of an athlete, club members wound up the year with a steak fry that provided a lot of fun as well as food.

N.H.S. SERVES SCHOOL AND COMMUNTIY

Proving it is not just a prestige organization, as many believe, the Washington High School National Honor Society fulfilled its role as an active service club by participating in many school and community functions. Under the leadership of Dan Flickinger, president, the club supported many school-wide projects, including annual can drives, the Student Council's Marquee fund and the 23rd. Avenue left turn signal. Members of the NHS escorted parents to the hard-to-find classrooms during Back-to-school Night early in the fall, and in the springtime were seen leading future students around campus on Eighth-Grade Visitation. Vice-president Stephanie Tolleson and treasurer, Darlene Kwee, assisted Dan in organizing NHS activities.

During the hectic Christmas season, NHS found the time to donate many gifts for the organization's annual party, held this year at the Crippled Childrens' Hospital, where the members who helped make the party a success were gratefully accepted. Janice Donnelly topped the celebration as she portrayed Santa Claus for the children.

February 25 was probably the most important day of the year for both members and many sophomores because it was the date for NHS induction of a record number of students. Featured in the induction program were speeches by graduating members, the ever impressive candlelight ceremony, and refreshments. It was also a time of personal congratulations to new members, parents, and administration. NHS members also broadened their horizons with a field trip to the Glendale Art Show to view the work of local artists.

With the guidance of sponsors Mrs. Enger, chairman, Mrs. Bickerstaff, Mr. Draper, and Mr. C. Johnson, National Honor Society was able to combine service and fun in their year's activities.

FOR THE LATEST IN NEWS AND FEATURES...

With only seven second-year journalsim students, production of the Ram Page required service above and beyond the call of duty at the beginning of the year.

Despite this limitation, the staff got out a paper two weeks after school began. For the next issue they received some help as beginning journalists began to cover beats and turn in information for the regular journalists to write up.

Women's Lib was advanced as the staff was headed by Ms. Terry Martinez as editor-in-chief. News editor was Kathy Jackson, Susan Dennison, editorial editor; Wayne Larson, feature editor; Dan Cooper, business manager; Ann Dando, girls' sports; and Roger Tang, sports editor.

Terry Hamilton, Jerry Costello, and Mark Talbert contributed pictures at various times during the year.

Although most issues were four pages published every three weeks, sometimes the class splurged and put out larger editions for such occasions as Homecoming and Christmas.

By mid-year the staff was enlarged by the addition of 18 "junior journies" who began to learn by doing. In May, after producing "dummy" issues, the novice staff took over to produce two issues on their own as the seniors learned how to produce mimeographed newspapers.

All year the staff worked closely with student council to encourage participation in school events. Despite this cooperation, they did not hesitate to comment on council or administration policies with which they did not agree.

YEARBOOK STAFF GETS IT ALL TOGETHER

Getting it all together for a yearbook is a demanding, time consuming job at best. Getting it together with a staff made up primarily of novices, sponsored by a near newcomer advisor, assisted by a photography mentor new to the school adds confusion and frustration to the task.

With dedication, persistance, and sheer grit, however, coupled with the experienced guidance of editor Kay Brannon, interim editor Roger Tang and class section editor Linda Miku, the hard working staff learned by doing and turned out their finished product, working before school, after school, during lunch hours, weekends, and holidays.

Early in the school year, five staff members attended a district workshop conducted by the publisher and made production decisions which resulted among other things in the sixteen color stock pages at the beginning of the book.

Hopefully, next year yearbook production will take its well deserved place as a class, thus providing the benefits of organized instruction and production time on a regular basis.

WHS HAS ACTIVE SPANISH CLUB

Spanish Club members combined culture, business and fun in an activity-filled year. Enriching their cultural horizons in art, members viewed a display of Mexican art at the Phoenix Art Museum. Mexican dancing captured their fancy at a performance of the Ballet Folklorico de Mexico, presented at Arizona State University.

To contribute to the Foreign Exchange Club class ring project for foreign exchange students, Spanish clubbers washed cars and sold stationery and candles.

In the midst of all tnese cultural and business endeavors, club members found time to liven things up even more with a Spanish-type party or two.

One of the busiest officers in German club was sports director David Fryd. He arranged all the inter-club volleyball and soccer games for his sports minded comrades. Just about as active were Joni Zuckerbrow, publicity manager; and treasurer Darlene Kwee, who headed the sales of those tasty soft pretzels. According to "a reliable source," the proceeds from these sales provided the funds for a big party at the end of the year. President Tom Woods assured our reporter that all was not fun and games, referring to the club's cultural trips to see German movies at A.S.U. Vice-president Lori Sandomir and secretary Bev Cohn declared that learning the culture of Germany is the main purpose of the German Club.

1. "No unauthorized personnel (girlfriends, cats, dogs, etc.).

2. Absolutely NO noise!" These are only a few of the numerous rules tacked onto the photo lab door, in hopes of eliminating the distractions that prevent photographers from developing and printing. Assorted German classes no doubt appreciate the resultant peace, too.

Mr. Marty Morgan, one of the newest faculty members, directed the Photo Club staff, with the help of sophomore Mark Talbert. Jerry Costello, Terry Hamilton, John Huey, and Lee Souter comprised the remainder of this dedicated and indispensable group.

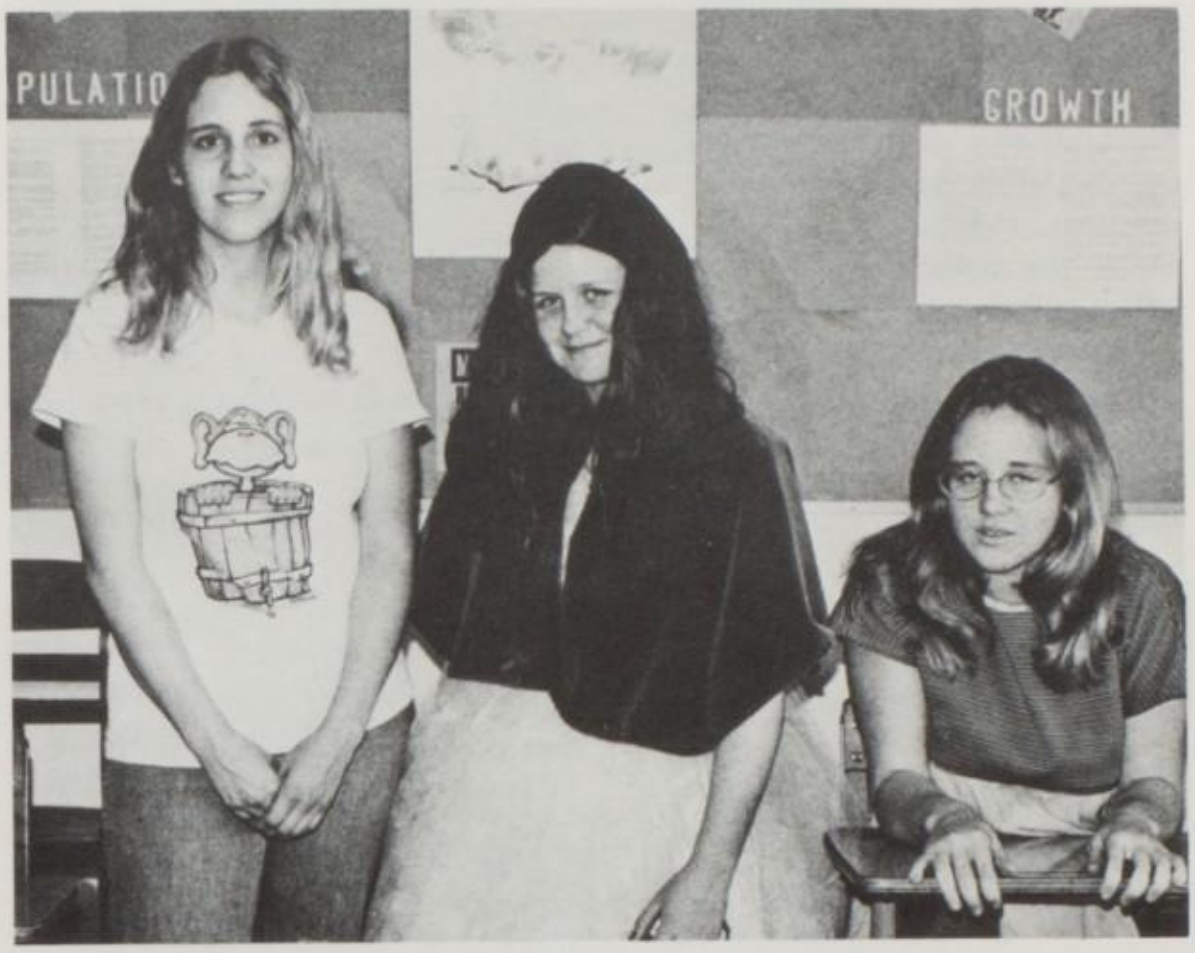
CLASS RINGS OCCUPY EXCHANGE CLUB



Officers: Allison Hartley, president; Rita Wheeler, treasurer; Ria Davis, secretary.

Foreign Exchange Club meeting.

Each year the Foreign Exchange Club finds great pleasure in giving class rings to the foreign exchange students at WHS. This year's recipients were Jenny Jaramillo, our visitor from Equador, and Marcela Zapata from Bolivia.

Said Jenny of her experience here, "The U.S. is really a good country. I've enjoyed my opportunities to learn new customs, meet new people, get new opinions and learn the differences between the two countries."

Both Jenny and Marcella have done much to teach their new friends about their own countries.

Club members, under the direction of president Allison Hartley, hosted a district-wide banquet to which they invited other high schools in the area.

Sponsor of the group is Mrs. George. Club secretary is Kea Davis, and Rita Wheeler takes care of the finances.

LATIN CLUB HAS AWARD WINNING YEAR

Latin Club's activities began even before school started, when senior Robin Roberts and junior Linda Miku were Washington High's first delegates to a National Junior Classical League convention, held early in August at Claremont, California. The two delegates spent five days participating in academic and graphic arts contests, seminars dealing with the cultures of ancient Greece and Rome, workshops, A Day in Old Rome, complete with a Roman comedy play, a slave sale, a bazaar, and even a Roman banquet in the Claremont College football stadium. Robin and Linda brought home half the awards won by the state group. Robin won third place in a Greek History and Life contest, while Linda won third for a Mythology notebook, second for a mosaic, and first for her posters.

During the year, Latin Club, under the leadership of Robin Roberts, raised money by a bake sale for contribution to various school-fund drives and the annual Latin Club banquet at the end of the year. The club also chose "Love is Venus" as the theme of its Homecoming float, a fire-engine red chariot which the officers nearly collided into the Spikette entry and the senior float, while "Venus", Nancy Montoya screamed and hung on desperately.

The highlight of the year came on March second when the Latin club went to A.S.U. to participate in the State Junior Classical League, where they again walked away with many honors. Winners of the Circus Minimus contest, the "College Bowl" of the ancient world, were Jeff Matloff, Linda Miku, and Robin Roberts. Answering questions concerning the Latin language, Mythology, and the History of ancient Greece and Rome, they edged out other schools such as Tempe, Globe and Brophy. Other honors bestowed on Washington High conventioneers included third place in scrapbooks, while Robert Stevenson won second in boy's mythological costume contest as Apollo, Robin Roberts won first in girls' mythological costume as Diana, and Linda Miku captured a second in girl's mythological costumes as a Roman lady, and a third in handicrafts.

Linda was also elected state recording secretary, and Jeff became state treasurer for the J.C.L. board. This year's Latin club brought honor and satisfaction to club sponsor Mrs. Betty Prosser and W.H.S. alike.

STUFFED RAMS INVADE CAMPUS

Sponsor is Mrs. German.

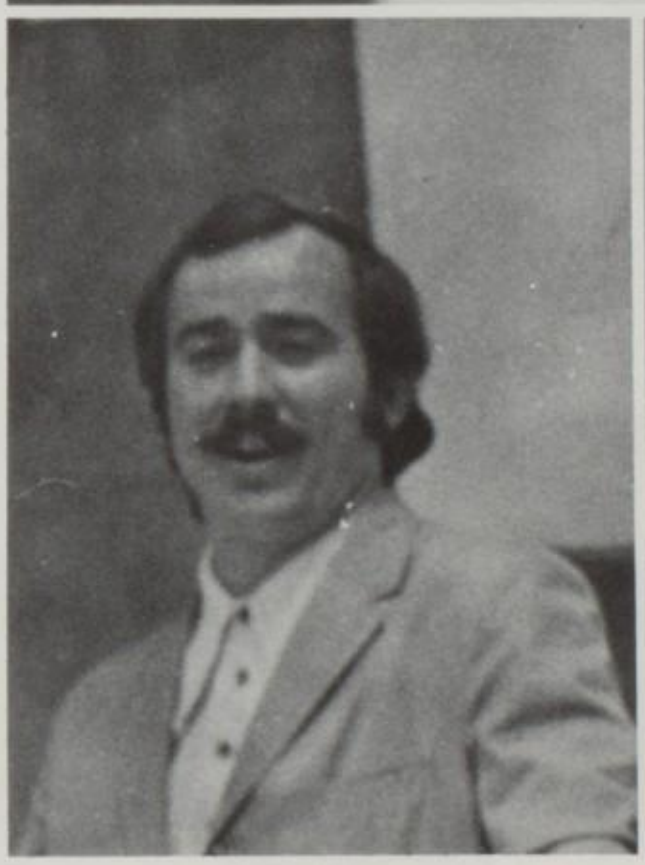
Becoming acquainted with the culture of France can be accomplished in a variety of ways, as Mrs. German's French club proved. Besides meeting every other Thursday to add to their French knowledge, club members sold purple and white stuffed Rams to raise money for their projects, which included dinner at a French restaurant.

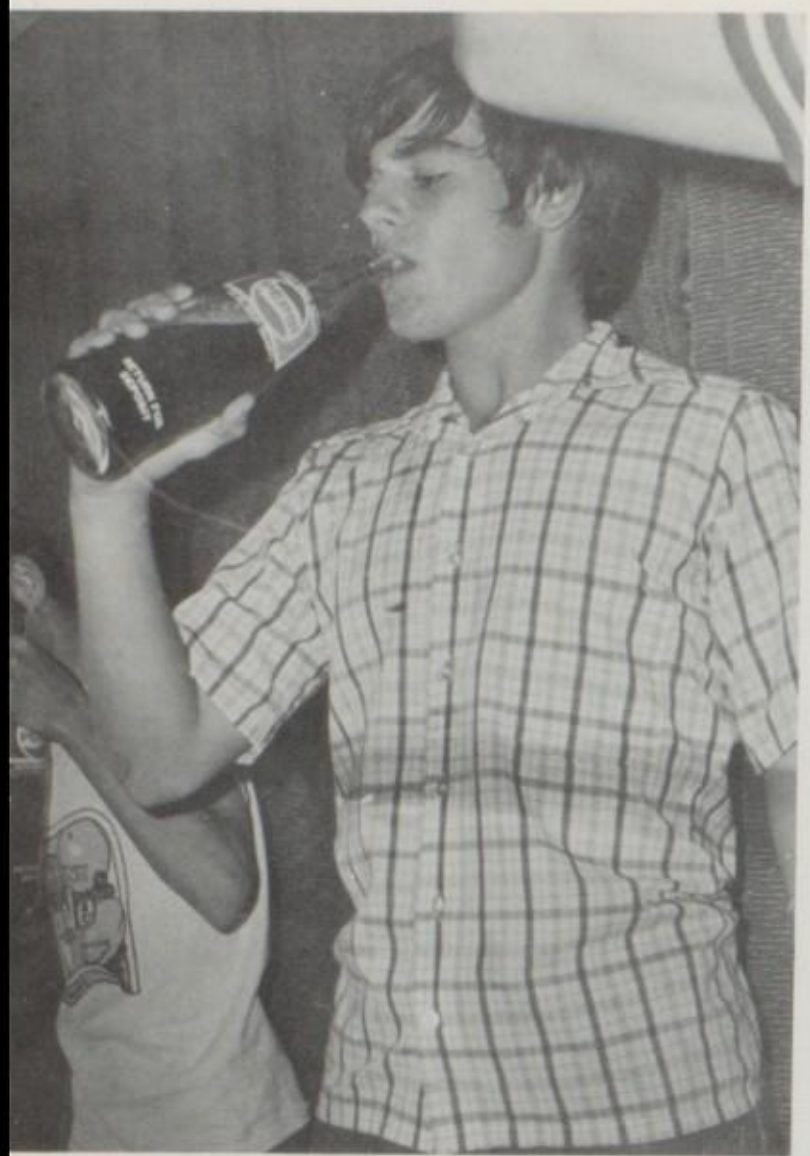
One of the club's major intercultural goals, unfortunately unrealized, was to beat the German Club at volleyball.

Leader in all these cultural endeavors was club president Florence McDaniel. Assisting her were Kirk Watts, vice president; Vicki Stockwell, secretary, and Rita Wheeler, treasurer. Providing the publicity was Allison Hartley.

Officers: Left To Right, Florence McDaniel, president; Kirk Watts, vice president; Vicki Stockwell, secretary; Allison Hartley, publicity manager; and Rita Wheeler, treasurer.

MOMENTS TO REMEMBER . . .





During Spirit Week such things as chug-a-lugging a quart of soda were very popular.

Homecoming is a success, thanks to the council's hard work.

The Spurlows rocking on at a council sponsored assembly.

STUDENT COUNCIL IMPROVES THROUGH REFORM

As Student Councils go, the 1973-74 model of the Washington High council was a quiet one. No radical outbursts of politics or taint of corruption, but just a well-done job was the result of the year.

Fresh back from the summer workshop, President Cary Stoneman and vice-president Janice Donnelly began the year with reforms in the Council's policy, aided by secretaries Terry Maritnez and Doree Willett, publicity manager Steve Gauer, and money man Roger Tang.

"It was messy, hammering out policy," said Roger, "and it was a hard job. Then we found out we were in debt about $63."

Taking care of the monetary problem was easily solved with a few dances and a concert by the nationally-known Spurlows, but policy was harder, as council members, with sponsor Mr. Morgan, fought to implement exchange lunches with SC officers from other schools. After untangling themselves from red tape, the officers finally got together with people from Marcos De Niza, Apollo, and Sunnyslope.

Poor planning had hampered the success of previous Homecomings, so this year's event also came under SC reform, as spirit-raising contests were added to inject life into the proceedings. Ably directed by special chairwoman Debbie Kidd, Homecoming moved briskly as the Letter clubs, Spikettes, Skinny Dippers, and the Sophomore class carted off prizes among the 15 floats, while Pam Wenzel and Joel Helpser reigned as Queen and King.

"The only way to get things done was to keep them out of committee and make them a one-man job. So we dumped it into Debbie's lap, and she came through magnificently," agreed the officers.

Elementary schools were introduced to WHS politics as officers of the grade school feeders were invited to a council meeting and a free lunch, along with a tour of the campus.

As 1973 rapidly drew to a close, the Council did its annual thing for charity, supporting five families at Thanksgiving and Christmas by raising nearly $600 and countless cans of food in their holiday can drives. For the students and faculty, Student Council decorated the cafeteria and sponsored the annual holiday dinners.

Santa Claus, alias Terry Hamilton, helped spread the spirit of the season by posing for pictures with various members of the student body.

GHOST DANCE

This earth is ours.
This earth is ours.
We died to keep it.
Before you came
our wattiors danced.
The woman sang.
My children played in the sun.
In seasons gone
The buffalo ran.
Our ponies floated
With eagles and red-paint magic.
We sang all day.
We sang all day.
Our hearts were happy.
After you came
Our warriors fell.
The women wailed.
My children froze in the snow.
The painted shields
And feathered staffs:
Our medicine strong.
We avenged like prairie lightening.
As hawks we fought.
As hawks we fought.
A storm howled inside us.
But you brought ill
No arrows could stop.
My people sickened
Inside and out until death came.
My daughter died
In Grandma's arms,
Eyes open, coughing,
With no more air coming out.
May sky be black.
May sky be black.

Over you always.
I rode to war
Shaking like a devil
And singing loud
My death-song proud and holy.
I laughed at you.
You shot at me,
But I turned red
And eagles screamed from my mouth.
I have passed.
I have passed.
I am the Red Ghost.
Listen, people!
Fight them not.
Their power is bad.
They carry gold as their God.
Be proud and glad!
We are men of earth.
They are men of fire
Who burn themselves to keep warm.
Their ways are false.
Their ways are false.
They will fail their children.
O, White Man!
Once you were good!
It shows so much
When you are little children.
But you forgot
That all are young,
  All are babies
To the Mother that is Nature.
I will come back.
I will come back.
I will stay forever.

NATIONAL MERIT AND OPTIMIST INTERNATIONAL HONOR 5 STUDENTS

Vickie Mallrick, Janice Donnelly, and Roger Tang were chosen the Optimist Award winners for 1973-74.

Janice Donnelly

Vickie Mallrick

Roger Tang

"Achievement as a whole" underscored the reason Janice Donnelly, Vickie Mallrick, and Roger Tang were honored by the Optimist International. Selected by the counselors, Janice, in letters, Vickie in science, and Roger, in the arts, showed outstanding talents in their fields and depth in others as a whole.

Janice has been involved in the accellerated English program for all four years of secondary training while maintaining a "1" grade average. She has also been involved in student government as a student council representative and officer as well as class officer.

Vickie has been in four years of science courses and has shown a feeling for the scientific. Also involved in student government, she has been in student council for four years and has been class representative for three years.

Being in the band for four years and spending three years as annual editor has won Roger the arts award. Roger's accomplishments include playing the clarinet and bass clarinet, leading the marching band as drum major, and bringing home a "1" from the Solo District and Ensemble Festival last year.

Dan Flickinger, Robin Roberts, and Roger Tang have made ½ of 1% of the country as National Merit Semi-Finalists.

Dan, Robin, and Roger demonstrated their academic proficiency by scoring in the top ½ of 1% in the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test given in October of 1972. The PSAT was taken by over one million students in about 17,000 high schools throughout the nation.

PRODIGY

I wrote a song this afternoon
For I was home by lunch today.
I'd like to hear it played quite soon
By some big orchestra, but they Won't know I shaped this ray of light,
At least not yet, because I will Just save it for awhile. It might
Be difficult to hire a real
Live orchestra, 'tis true, but there's
A better reason for my cares.

I read four books just yeaterday
For I was home by noon again.
The first one was about the prey
Of Captain Ahab and his men.
The other three were not as long
Nor quite as hard to understand.
But here again, Just my song,
No one will know I've reached the end
Of this long college reading list,
Or you would know that I exist.

Last week I painted on my wall
A picture of our living room.
It looked as good as those I saw
Inside the city art museum.
The week before I wrote a play;
I did it in the afternoon
Since I was home that day.
It won't be seen on stage so soon
Because then you would know of me
That I'm more than I seem to be.

Tomorrow is a special day,
For I'll be home at noon and then
I'll have a party. By the way,
This means a lot to me, since then
I shall be six years old. Hooray!

FOUR TO ATTEND BOYS' STATE FROM WHS

The honors committee selected four boys and one alternate for Boys' State in June at Northern Arizona University.

All juniors, they are Dave Mackey, Tom Broderick, Matthew Payne, Richard Tadano and alternate John Lowman. The purpose of Boys' State is to help boys learn how government works. During the week they belong to a political party and hold a convention to elect a governor of Boy's State.

The American Legion post of Glendale pays part of the expenses for the boys.

Participants are chosen for scholastic achievement, good leadership abilities, respect for the law, and an interest in government and how it operates.

Standing: Richard Tadano, Matthew Payne. Seated: Tom Broderick, Dave Mackey.

THREE SELECTED FOR GIRLS' STATE

Standing: Kathryn Westphall, Karen Null. Seated: Debbie Kidd.

Debbie Kidd, Karen Null, and Kathryn Westphall were chosen by the Washington High Honors Committee to attend Girls' State in Tucson.

This year's Girls State will be held June 10 - 16. In order to be eligible, girls had to show abilities in leadership, character, honesty, scholarship, cooperativeness, and physical fitness. The reason for these qualifications are because they are representing Washington High, and are learning to inculcate a sense of individual obligation to community, state and nation.

From the Girls' State program, the girls will have the opportunity to learn about their country and government by electing their own officers by regular election procedures. The girls will live as self-governing citizens during the full week that they are at Girls' State.

The purpose of having the girls attend is to educate the young women in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship in order that they may understand and participate in the functioning of their government and to help them to learn the meaning of some of the responsibilities they will take on when they are adults.

Mary Liska was chosen as the alternate if for some reason one of the other girls cannot attend.

One day last summer while the cheerleaders were practicing at school, a Dr. Pepper salesman came to stock the vending machines. He handed out some entry blanks for the Miss Teenage Phoenix pageant, sponsored by his company.

Nancy Mannett, a cheerleader and senior at W.H.S., decided to enter. That decision was a fortunate one. By the end of the series of pageant contests, Nancy was named first runner-up.

On September 21st, the number of contestants was cut from 100 to 25 on the basis of scholastic abilities. Combining her talent in public speaking with cheerleading, Nancy was selected as one of the finalists on September 29th, when poise, personality and talent were the criteria.

The winner and runners-up were chosen on October 6th in the final contest of the series.

Nancy was one of only two girls from Washington to enter the contest. Happy with her experience, she hopes more of our girls will enter next year.

Nancy Mannett

Dale Olsen

TWO W.H.S. GIRLS PLACE IN PAGEANTS

One of our own students, Dale Olsen, not only entered the Central Phoenix Junior Miss Pageant, but left with a number of awards.

Exhibiting her talent in dance and exercise with an original routine, Dale won the Youth Fitness award.

The Spirit of Junior Miss (Miss Congeniality) was awarded by a vote of all the girls in the contest for their choice of the friendliest and most enjoyable contestant during the week before the contest. This year it was Dale.

Along with her other awards, Dale also won second runner-up over all and second place in ticket sales.

JANICE DONNELLY WINS DAR AWARD

Janice Donnelly was this year's recipient of the Daughters of the American Revolution Award. As winner of the award, she was eligible to take a test on the subject of citizenship to compete for a scholarship.

Chosen by the Honors Committee, Janice was selected for her qualities of citizenship and leadership.

Active in school and off-campus organizations, she was student council vice-president, Ski Club president, and Spikettes vice-president.

Off-campus she was a member of the Mayor's Youth Advisory Board, district student council, and International High School Brotherhood Council. She was also a member of GAA, NHS, and Lettergirls.

After school and on weekends, she raises dogs, snow skis, sails, sews, and participates in sports.

OUTSTANDING ARTIST HONORED

The 1974 Bimson purchase award was presented to WHS senior Jon Joha, February 22, at the Scholastic Arts Festival.

Jon's pen and ink drawing of the Sioux Indians going to war was added to the permanent Bimson collection purchased by the Valley National Bank.

Lora Mara, senior, and Kathy Wright, junior, were semi-finalists for the state finals.

The winners of the Gold Key from WHS were Beeci Craig, senior, for her acrylic, Kathy Wright, for her watercolor, and Kim Marozik, sophomore, for her design for a postage stamp.

The only requirement for each of these entries, said Mr. Frank Salmon, was that they all had to be good.

Back Row, Left to Right: Kathy Wright, Lori Mara Front Row, Left to Right: Kim Marozik, Beeci Craig, and Jon Joha.

OPTIMISTS GIVE "PAT ON THE BACK"

The Pat on the Back Award is an honor which is presented monthly to the student who shows the most academic improvement.

The winners for the first months were Victor Chavarria, June Dewberry, Roy Friesen and Ted Munoz.

Winners of the award are chosen by the counselors and announced at the monthly counselors' meetings.

A luncheon to meet members of the North Phoenix Optimists Club, sponsors of the award, is given each winner.

REGIONAL ALL-STATE HONORS MUSICIANS

Left To Right: James Campbell, Steve Bentley, Cathy Hayes, Kathy Wright, and Victor Burrell.

Six members of the WHS choirs and nine members of the bands were accepted into this year's Northwest Regional All-State group and took part in the All-State Concert February 8.

Members of the All-State Chorus form WHS were Karen Null, Barbara Smith, and Brenda Orr, sopranos; Betsy Harrell, alto; and Rick Cummins and Kirk Watts, tenors.

Members of the orchestra were Kathy Wright, flute; Jim Campbell, clarinet; Steve Bentley, trombone; and Victor Burrell, percussion.

Those accepted into the band were Diane Ballard and Kathy Elliot, flute; Allan Adler, tenor saxophone; Dean Hunn, cornet; and Robin Plummer, trumpet.

They left WHS Friday, February 8, by bus and arrived that evening for a rehearsal that started that evening at 5:00. At 6:30 they took time out for dinner and then went into another rehearsal at 7:45 for two more hours.

Saturday was packed with rehearsals all day, with the performance coming at 8:00 that evening. Each of the groups gave its own section of the concert, and afterwards returned home.

WENDY ZALUT VALEDICTORIAN

With a grade point average of 5.512, Wendy Zalut was chosen valedictorian of the '74 graduating class.

Wendy, who was announced as valedictorian by Mr. James Wright, was competing against the whole senior class.

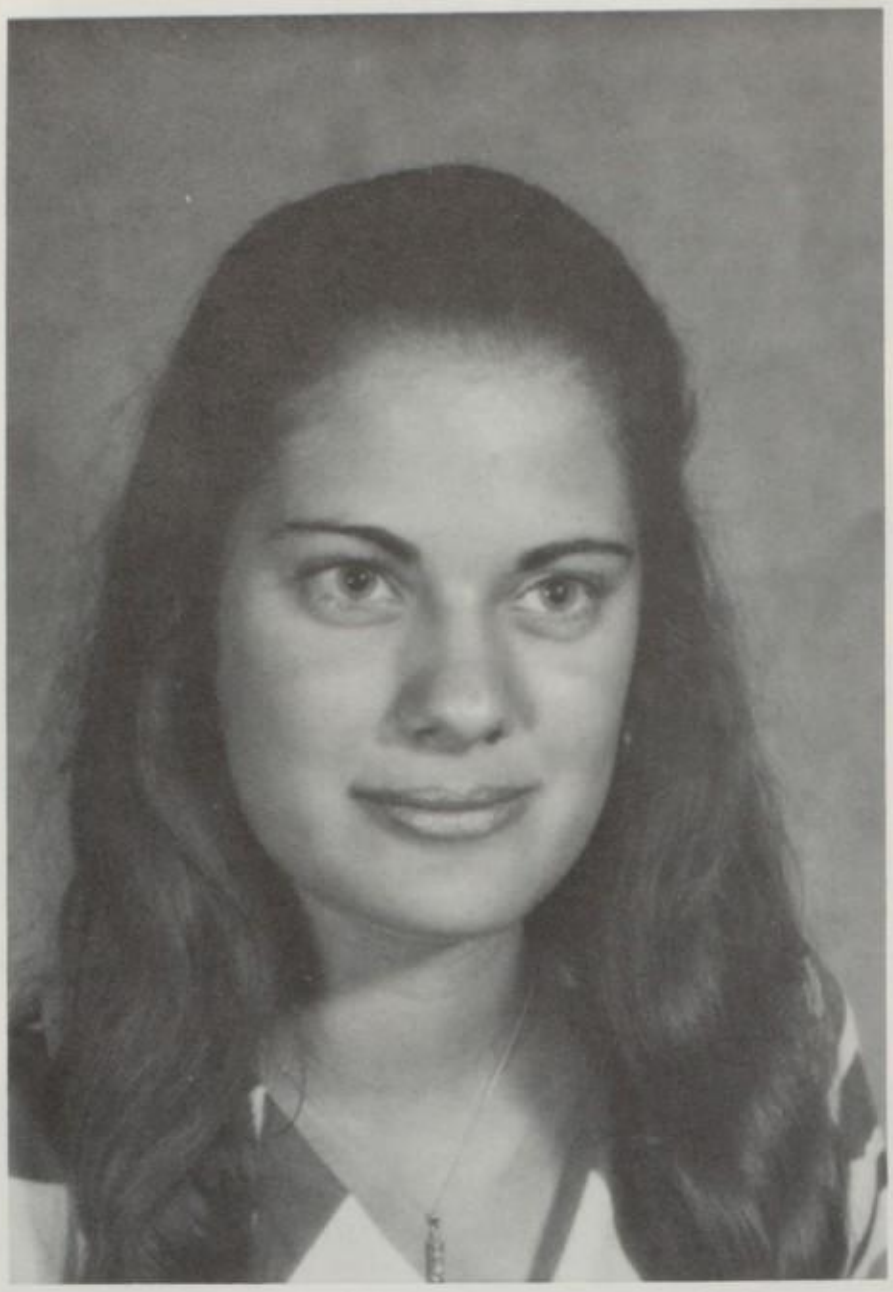
As a result of studying about four hours a day, Wendy's grade was a two. She has taken all accelerated classes except Freshman algebra.

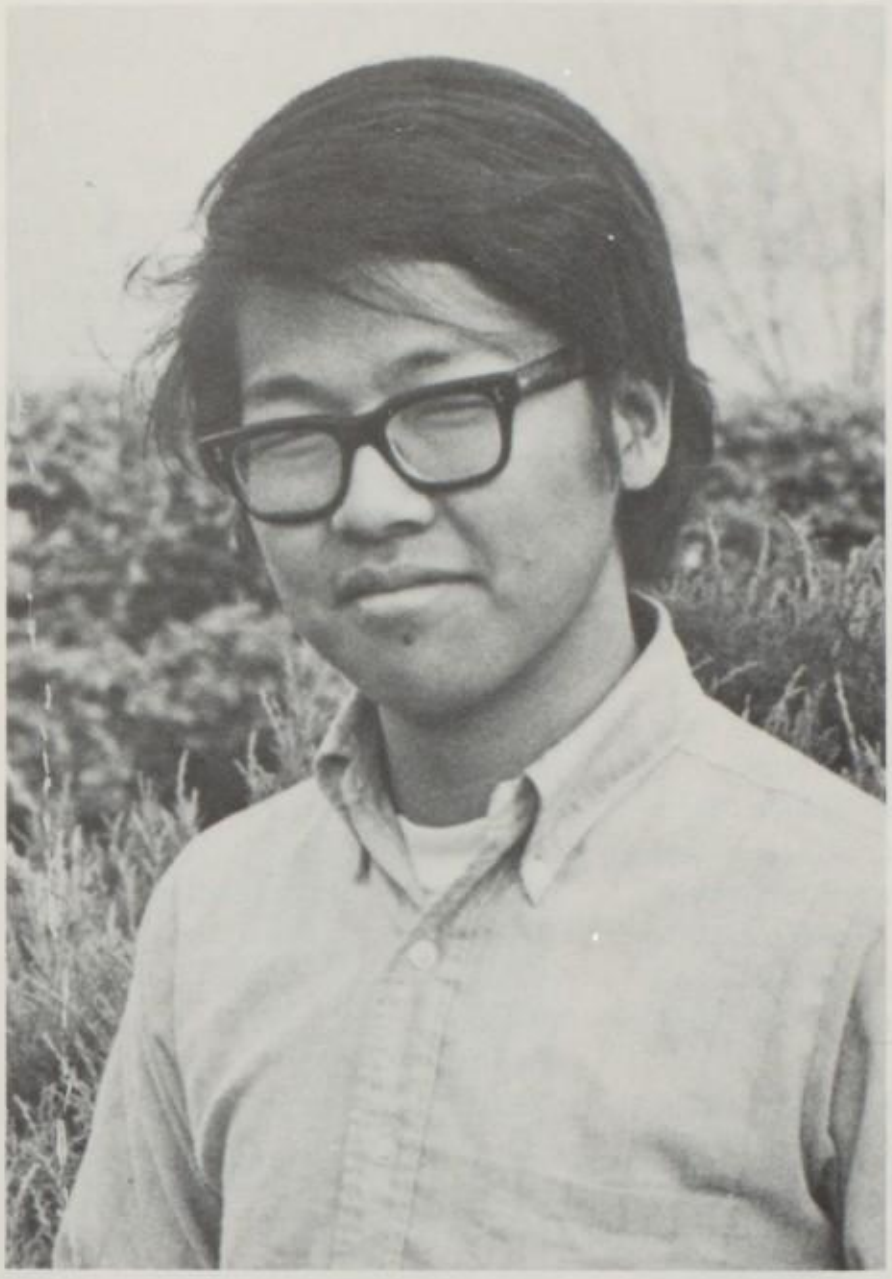
Wendy would like to go to Pamona College and study medicine. She would like to be an obstetrician. Wendy belongs to many organizations. She is secretary of N.H.S., member of the Band Club, member of the United Synagogue Youth group, and Phoenix Council for Soviet Jews. She goes to Phoenix High School for Jewish Studies.

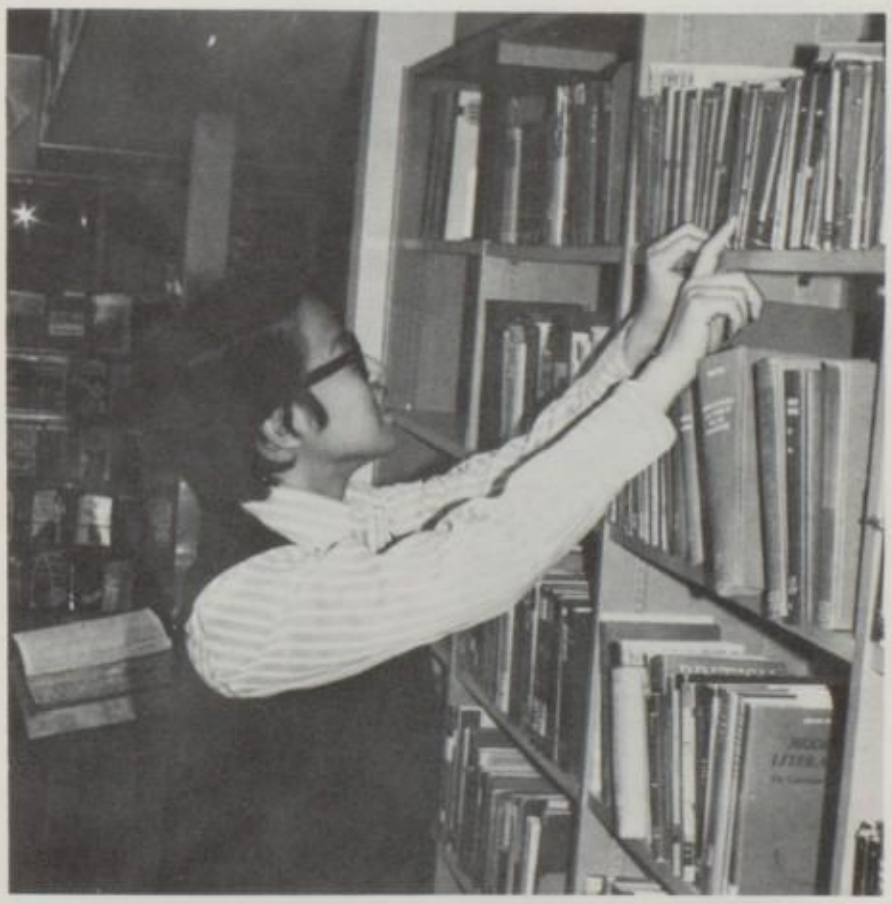
Wendy's hobbies are reading, playing piano, knitting and crocheting, running, and traveling.

Wendy, who went to Israel last summer with a Jewish youth group, would like to live in Israel in the future.

Born in Philadelphia, Wendy came to Phoenix with her parents when she was three and a half years old. Wendy said she was very pleased to be valedictorian.







ROGER TANG SALUTATORIAN

Sports editor for the Ram Page, Roger Tang, is the salutatorian for the graduation class of '74.

Top five students for the senior class were in competition for the award with the closest to Roger being Dan Flickenger. Only .25 honor points seperated Roger from Wendy Zalut, this year's valedictorian.

Roger's plans for the future include attending college, preferably Stanford or the University of Arizona. He plans to be a research scientist with free lance writing on the side.

Extra curricular activities took up much of Roger's time all through school. Biggest of these was being editor of the Panorama two years in a row, which is a record in itself. He also was drum major in the band, president of Quill and Scroll, and student council representative. With a 5.4883 grade average, Roger has belonged to NHS since his sophomore year. He has also taken 18 semesters of accelerated classes, in math and in language.

His writing ability has not been confined to the Ram Page and the yearbook. He has been a correspondent and feature writer for the Teen Gazette.

. . . AND EIGHT OTHERS RATED TOPS

Graduating third in the class of '74 is Dan Flickinger with a grade average of 5.477. Dan studied for about one hour a day to achieve this rank. He participates in Band Club and NHS.

Some of Dan's hobbies are ping pong, camping, and basketball.

Dan's worst grade in high school was a two. Dan wants to go to college to be either a doctor or a minister.

Robin Roberts is graduating in a tie for fourth place. She has a grade average of 5.452. Robin is interested in science fiction and classic history, horseback riding and needlepoint. She belongs to Latin club, Drama club, NHS, and GAA. She also likes to collect things. Robin wants to go to college.

She studies for two hours a day, and her lowest grade was a two in high school.

Also graduating fourth is Tom Woods with an average of 5.452. Tom is a German Clubber and also belongs to NHS. Tom likes tennis, hiking, and snow skiing. He is interested in horticulture and is a tropical fish collector. Tom studies for about one hour a day. His lowest grade in high school was a two. As for the future he said, "College, then the world!"

In sixth place for Top Ten is Janice Donnelly. Being occupied with the Mayor's Youth Advisory Board and the District Student Council, she is active in civic affairs. During the summer months, Janice also works at the Jewish Community Center as a lifeguard. In school she is active in GAA, president of the Ski Club and vice president of both the student body and Spikettes.

Gemco nominated Janice as a scholarship recipient, and she also won the Optimist Award in Letters. The United Church Youth and the Inter High School Brotherhood Council keep Janice's schedule busy.

President of COE, Tricia Wills was seventh in the class. Active in both COE and NHS, she was in the Central Phoenix Junior Miss Contest earlier this year. Tricia was a finalist for the Maricopa County Legal Secretary Scholarship, placing in the top six. Palnning to major in business, Tricia would like to go to Phoenix College or A.S.U.

N.A.U. offered Michael Runge, who placed eighth in the senior class, a scholarship for sports. Active as a Letterman, NHS and cross Country keep Michael busy. Outlooks for the future are forestry or medicine. Some of his hobbies are baseball and girls.

Stephanie Tolleson, who has competed in the Virginia Slims, tennis tournament for the past three years, placed ninth in the Top Ten. Working hard at tennis, she practices every day at the West Side Tennis Club and also does volunteer tennis instructing. Her effort has made her number one player in the Southwest and in Arizona and twelfth in the United States.

NHS kept Stephanie busy as vice-president. GAA is another of her activities. Working for the community she does volunteer chores at St. Luke's Hospital, whenever she can and is also on the Junior Board.

President of the French Club, Florence McDaniels is tenth in the class. She also participates in NHS. Sewing, football and tennis are some of her pastimes.

NHS nominated her for a scholarship this year. She would like to continue her education and go into the math field.

This year's spirited and highly intelligent Senior Class may well be the future leaders of the world. They entered a great float and helped make possible the best Homecoming half-time in W.H.S history. Later on in the year, they added toilet-papering the school grounds to their list of accomplishments. The Class of '74 also contributed money to the Marquee Fund, for which seniors have been saving for the last several years.

Choices for the Senior Class all-night party were Big Surf, Legend City, or Disneyland.

Cary Stoneman presided over Student Council assisted by Janice Donnelly, vice-president; Terry Martinez, recording secretary; Doree Willett, corresponding Secretary; Roger Tang, treasurer, Steve Gauer, publicity manager.

In June, five hundred and forty seniors bid farewell to Washington.

JUNIORS REKINDLE HOMECOMING SPIRIT

On Top of the Junior class officer pyramid sits Linda Zielin, publicity manager, followed by Vice-President Lynn Sawyer, President Debbie Kidd, Secretary Jayne Van Dyke, and Treasurer Kathie Russ.

Enthusiasm for Homecoming activities nearly overshadowed the always top-rated Junior-Senior prom as the favorite event-of-the-year for Juniors. President Debbie Kidd sparked much of the zeal among the various clubs in making floats for the Homecoming parade. She lined up the procession and also announced the entries during the half-time festivities. The Junior class did their part by entering their own float annd selecting Diana Yule and Brad Gagner as Junior attendants.

"Love is in Your Dreams" was the theme of the Homecoming dance which the Juniors also sponsored, another large money-raiser for the class. In addition to this successful event, Juniors sold boutonnieres for the dance, held an unusual decorate-it-yourself-then-eat-it cookie sale during Christmas and Wally Cleaver Week, and peddled flowers early in the new year. Much of their profits aided in producing the memorable Junior-Senior prom, held on May 4 at Del Webb's Townehouse.

Amid all the confusion of campus life, two students manage to snatch a moment of study before an upcoming class.

SOPHS HAVE BEST YEAR

Sophomore class officers Rita Wheeler, treasurer; Diane Schaffhauser, publicity manager; Leslie Roach, vice-president; and Carol Wheat, president, were ready to lead their class when school started this fall.

Sophomores swung into action with a can drive for needy families at Christmas. In February they added to their treasury by selling candy bars at fifty cents apiece. The year was fantastically ended when they decorated for the Baccalaurate.

No wonder the sophomores think this was the best year they've had.

TALENTED FROSH SHINE

Contrary to popular belief, the Freshman class of '77 survived a barage of initiation and oppression here at Washington. To start off their first year, the frosh marked the Women's Lib ticket as five femmes occupied office: Marilyn Wolf, president; Debbie Nimms, vice president; Karen Ortega, secretary; Claudette Dunn, treasurer; and Terri Smith publicity manager.

Among the 529 frosh, some illustrious personages lurked. Two of them landed spots on a national swim team; as a result, Jeff Baird and Vicki Smith went to Mexico to compete against the Mexican nationals. Another personality was young, even for a freshman, Joshua Harmon. Only 12 years old, Joshua proved he was a talented performer by a brilliant performance as Raymond Fuller in the fall play.

As a class, the frosh were guided by the friendly old hands of Mr. Willeford, Mrs. Carpenter, and Mr. Thornburg as they staged money making projects like candy-cane sales throughout the year.

Jerry Coffman, Freshman, receives task of washing the Ram Plaque, as an initiation stunt.

Dear, Dear Sally,
I have missed you so much! Oh, how I long for the good old days when we had such brilliant discussions in Geometry. Ah, well, such is Life.
Love (with all my heart),
Patty DeVincent
P.S. Better luck next year.

Sarah Louise Hinderland,

It's amazing that 36 months ago (sounds shorter than 3yrs) I didn't even know you existed and now there's almost a day that doesn't go by that I talk to you (Maybe we'll meet again on U. I.!) Well I've met lots of people in my time and I've even gotten to know a few well, but you have finally topped it woo! It's really been fun and highschool would have been dullsville if I hadn't met somebody like you. Anyway I'm glad this year is ending off with lots of excitement for you, but the only thing sad is that next year will be our last & then off to the big time! I'm sure we'll write loads of letters Ha Ha to each other & I'm also sure I'll never forget you & all our other buddies.

See ya

Love,

Susan

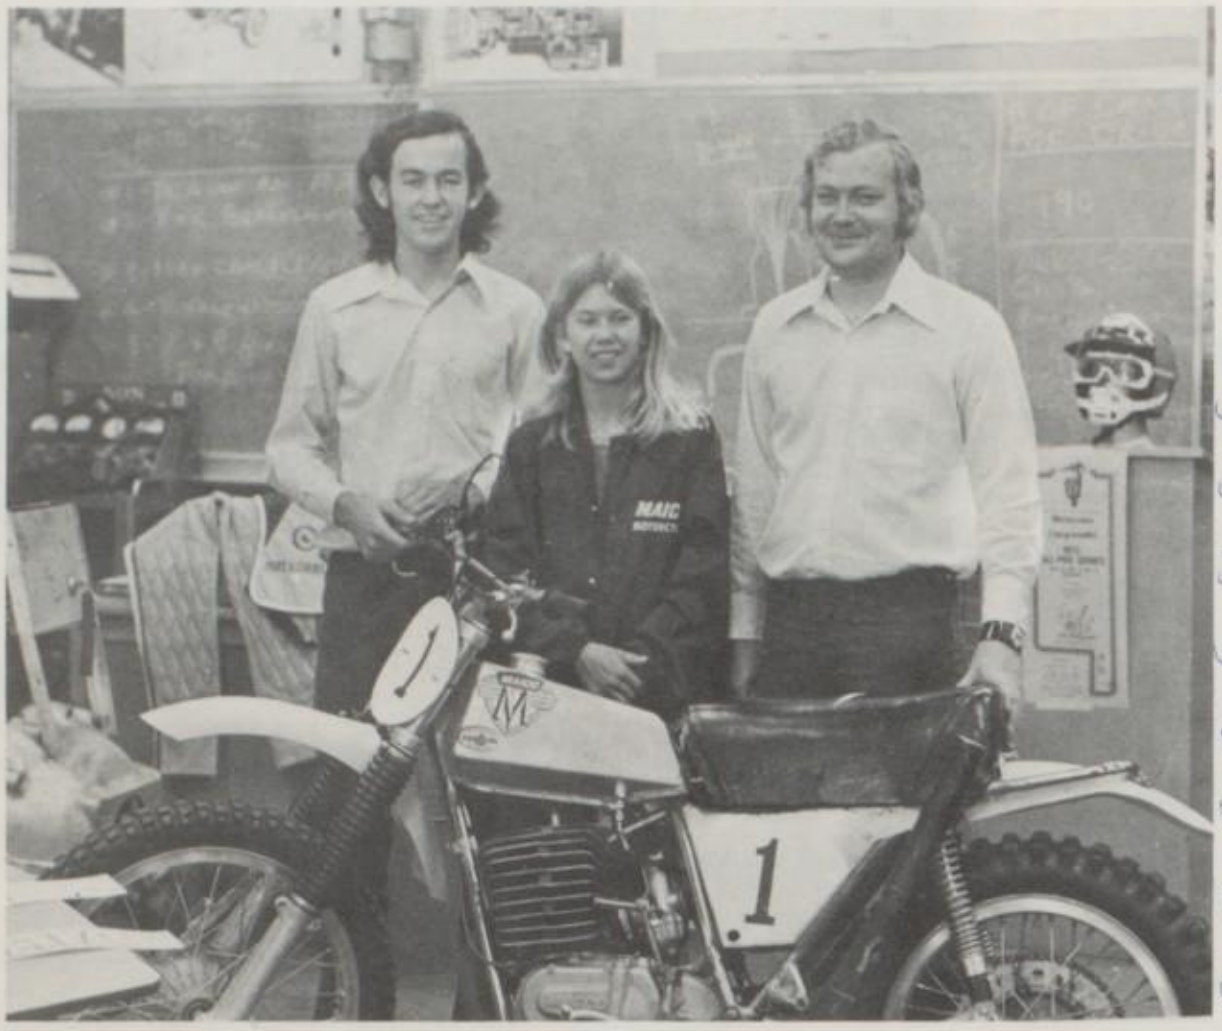
Oh Sally,

Just how long has it been — too long? Well this year you never would believe it, I was blessed with good fortune, I got a locker that didn't close all by itself! With a little help from my friends. I'm just sorry I didn't get to see much of you this year, I missed your terrific personality and good looks. Good luck in Pom next year. Come visit me sometime at Metro, you can yell at me if you want.

Love, Bruce '74' Newton

AND STILL MORE . . .



Sally - Remember when we had art together? What a joke that was! The only fun I had was when I could tease you - too bad we didn't have any classes - I've really missed seeing you around. I'm glad we're friends cause you're so nice and I really admire a lot of things in you. you're one of those people who's liked by everybody. Maybe next year we can see more of each other + get closer - I'd like that. I'm glad you've started coming to Young Life - it makes it neater. I hope you are always happy - Oh, one more thing - Please stay out of my way in volleyball!!! I'm looking forward to when we play badminton - I'm gonna wipe you out! Take care Sally + please call me, 374-0411. Chapt. 2 will be next year.

Love Linda

To Sally, Mitsi, and any other names we may have established for you:

So... the year is coming to the very end and here we are, Patiently waiting for summer! Next year we will be graduating, too! How time goes by, unbelievable, sí? So I am not going to write a big sob because I will save that for next year. Here's to all the fun activities we participated (?) in through out the P.E. year, and that definitely includes "good ol' modern dance!" This summer, we will have to do some fun things like go out for dinner at Spaghetti Company or Olive Garden or maybe we can get a rude waitress at the Olive Or better yet, we just sit around and the fun things we always do!! No, seriously, think of all the surprise birthdays we can do next year! I hope you enjoy pom and all its extra activities, etc. I hope this summer. Take care, and love-

amiga. (Julie Reaky Jul....)

AUTOGRAPHS . . .

Sally,
Well, another year
another yearbook. Its hard to write all I feel - I just hope you know that having you for a friend is a great part of my life. Freshman year - you wrote in my yearbook that you were so glad to have met me, and shared times with me. Well - I'm glad to say that I've felt that way all the years I've known
you. All the talks we've had have been something else, and P.E., - wouldn't be the same without you - and your sly winks. And History - try not to get so upset-maybe some day we'll get the world the way
we want it.
Until then...
take it easy.
Have a good summer,
Love
Peggy

A FINAL WORD . . .

As co-editors of the 1974 Panorama, we have a special viewpoint for looking back at the year's events. We share with all of you the varied memories of classrooms and teachers, of games won and lost, and of dances, candy sales, pretzel sales, assemblies, Homecoming, Wally Cleaver Week, the agonies of final exams and all the other happenings that made up our year together.

But more especially, after untold hours spent working before, during and after school, on Saturdays and holidays, after numberless telephone calls among staff members, numerous meetings with publishers, with the specter of deadlines always hanging over us, we look back on the preparation of this yearbook, the record of those memories.

Room 124 certainly was a mad house when deadlines came around. However, it wasn't all work—we had fun, too. And now that it's all behind us, we want to express our appreciation to the special people whose hard work, effort and almost never failing good humor put this yearbook together.

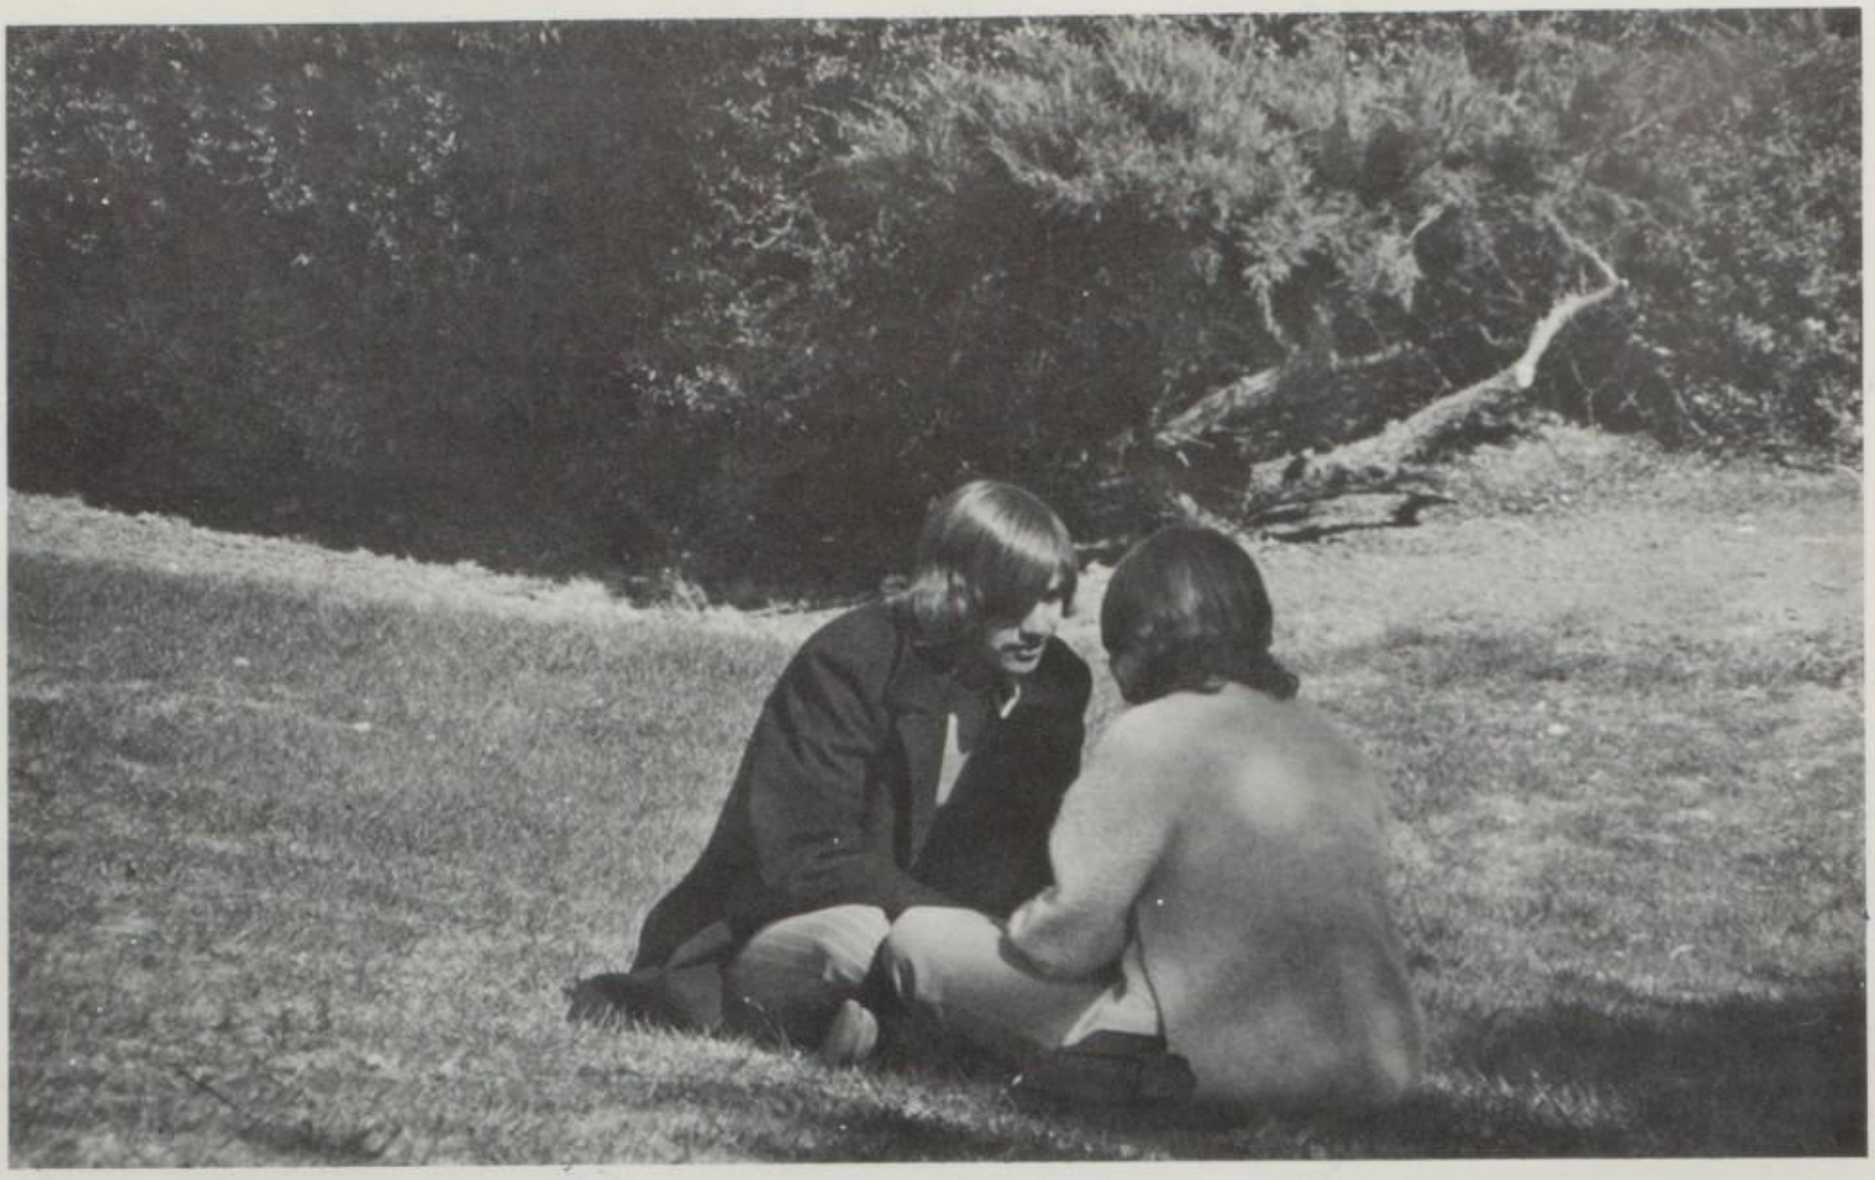
Our sincere thanks go to Barbara Kuelbs, Barbara Cable, Linda Miku, Cathy Stone, Kim DeLoera, Sheri Benson and Liz Olson for all the exacting tasks necessary for assembling the class sections.

We are grateful to Barbara Smith, Peggy Fisher, Debi Wilbur, Vicki Perrault, Diana Perch, Alexis Aiken, Patty DeVincent, Bruce Benson, Mike Sonnier, Jeff Bonsey and Kathy McDonald for accomplishing their tasks.

Roger Tang deserves our special appreciation for filling in for us when after-school jobs took us away from yearbook production for a couple months, and for sharing his editorial experience with us in a number of other ways.

We want to thank Mrs. Barnhill for coming to school early in the morning, staying late after school, and spending many Saturdays with us in the preparation of this yearbook.

To Mr. Marty Morgan and his photographers, Mark Talbert, Jerry Costello, and Sam Burns a special vote of thanks for their many hours on assignment and in the darkroom on our behalf.



We had a lot of much-needed help from students not officially on the staff, too, and to them goes our special appreciation—Mrs. Ross's typing classes for helping type pages of copy, Mrs. Barnhill's sophomores and juniors for getting needed interviews and writing copy, and Mr. Salmon's art classes for designing our cover.

We save for last, most honored position those to whom we owe the greatest appreciation. For their constant, unceasing contributions throughout the entire year to their own sections and beyond what was originally assigned, for especially devoted serviced to the cause in many ways, we recognize with deepest appreciation Mike Weidauer, Sue Smith, Linda Miku, Carol Foresman, Rita Wheeler, Alison Hartley, Laura Hardin and Joe Donlin.
